U. S. won't tolerate Red attacks during bombing lull, Hanoi told

Storm aftermath

Debris litters the beach at Manasquan, N.J., Wednesday after a severe storm lashed this Atlantic Ocean community and forced many residents from their homes.

Peace talk split threatens U. S., Saigon relations

SAIGON (AP) — The split between Saigon and Washington over the Paris peace talks has threatened relations between the two allies to the lowest point in several years.

The United States accused President Nguyen Van Thieu of agreeing to a formula that would have permitted opening of full dress peace negotiations and then backing out at the last minute.

Saigon feels Thieu is being called a liar and responds with increasing heat that he never agreed to what Washington says he did.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said Tuesday Washington should go ahead with peace talks with North Vietnam in Paris if Saigon continues to boycott the meetings.

Saigon replied it would refuse to recognize any agreements, including a cease-fire, if they affect South Vietnam's vital interests and Saigon does not approve them.

Washington talks privately of Thieu's stance as one the president must take, at least initially, to smooth the feathers of political hawks at home.

Saigon says, also privately, that President Johnson's decision to stop the attacks on North Vietnam was motivated by an attempt to influence the U.S. presidential elections.

"There are indications here that both Saigon and Washington recognize the urgent need to patch up the split and especially to end their arguments before they do finally sit down with Hanoi and the Viet Cong representatives.

The present disarray centers mostly on the question of how

Negroes killed in Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The founder of a black community organization and two other men were shot to death early Wednesday in what police said was apparently a robbery attempt staged by five men.

Two other men were critically wounded in the shooting spree. Police said the victims and assailants all were Negroes.

The incident occurred at the organization's headquarters in the city's predominantly Negro Roxbury section.

Two of the dead and the two wounded had police records, authorities said.

Police Lt. Edward Sherry, in charge of the city's homicide division, said Rose told police that five armed Negroes burst into the office, that one of them said "Where's the money? Where's the money?" and that all of the assailants began shooting

House postpones action on Sunday liquor bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House postponed action Wednesday on a proposed Sunday liquor sales bill at the request of opponents, who wanted more time to mobilize their forces.

Supporters of the Senate-passed bill said they hoped to bring the measure up for a final vote next week, probably Tuesday.

The legislation would authorize countywide referendums on the question of whether restaurants should be allowed to sell alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

Under present law, only private clubs throughout the state and major hotels in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh may engage in Sunday liquor and beer sales.

The request for postponement came from Rep. Percy G. Poor, R-Bedford, an avowed opponent. Both Republicans and Democrats voted in closed-door caucuses to honor Poor's request.

Rep. Matthew J. Ryan, R-Delaware, a supporter, said the bill probably would be put to a vote next week. Ryan is chairman of the Liquor Control Committee, which released the measure to the floor on Tuesday.

If approved by the House in its present form, the bill would have to be returned to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

The House Basic Education Committee released to the floor a bill that would strip the Human Relations Commission of most of its authority in the area of school de facto segregation.

The commission earlier this year ordered 17 school districts to end racial imbalance, resulting in some controversy, especially in Philadelphia, over the issue of school busing.

The House bill would limit the commission's authority to an advisory capacity in cases involving elementary schools. The commission would retain its present jurisdiction over secondary schools.

The senate, meanwhile, adopted amendments to several bills that would implement the new judiciary article of the state constitution.

the National Liberation Front, nominal head of the insurgency in South Vietnam, will be treated when the full peace talks start.

In pressing Johnson's peace offensive, Washington was presented with an almost insoluble problem of preserving face for all those present at the conference table. This led to the "your side, our side" proposal that meant the United States and North Vietnam on one side and South Vietnam and the front on the other.

By blurring the status of all the participants, Washington hoped to head off just the confrontation it is now faced with. Saigon says it can never recognize the front.

All the various shillings are presumably being studied within the context of the U.S. halt.

President Johnson's daughter Luci Nugent speaks to press on her departure in San Francisco Wednesday en route to Honolulu where she is to have reunion with her soldier husband Patrick. Unowed by all the attention is the couple's 16-month-old son, Lyn.

Luci off to see husband; unsure of future life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent, off to spend the "five fastest days of my life" with her husband, wondered Wednesday what the future holds.

"I'm not quite sure what my future life will be," said Mrs. Nugent, as she boarded a jetliner for a five-hour flight to Hawaii to be reunited with Airman J.C. Patrick Nugent.

The President's younger daughter paused briefly as she carried her 16-month-old son, Lyn, past a crowd of news and cameramen. "After all, you have to remember that I've been living in the White House since I've been 1½ years old," said Mrs. Nugent, 21, whose father ends his tenure as President in January. She said her husband begins a five-day leave in Hawaii Nov. 20, but she is arriving early to prepare for the reunion.

Communists seek talks without Saigon present

PARIS (AP) — The United States, badgered by the Communist side to come to the peace table without its balking Saigon ally, countered Wednesday with a warning to Hanoi that misuse of the demilitarized zone—DMZ—hindered progress.

Viet Cong provoke 'incidents'

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that "five incidents were reported early this morning involving enemy activity in the southern portion of the demilitarized zone" between North and South Vietnam.

U.S. artillery or naval guns fired back at enemy positions in the zone in four of the five incidents, the command said.

The report came soon after Washington had warned North Vietnam that serious peace talks in Paris could not be conducted if the DMZ were used for attacks on allied forces.

The command said four of the five incidents took place Wednesday, and one on Monday. It said three of the five involved firing at U.S. reconnaissance planes.

U.S. military leaders were reported carefully assessing enemy intentions in the light of recently intensified shelling of military and civilian targets in South Vietnam.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, refused to speculate Wednesday on the enemy's aims in talking with correspondents.

"This is the time for all of us working in the military to keep our eyes open," he said, "watch what is happening and compare it with all the things we know and have watched before. Then we can make a judgment."

One question as the shelling positions inside the demilitarized zone between the Vietnams Sunday. Abrams sidestepped this question, saying: "Well, they shelled the Marines and the Marines shelled them."

All the various shillings are presumably being studied within the context of the U.S. halt.

American informants at the stalled Paris peace talks said the warning was delivered at a secret meeting of a top U.S. negotiator and his opposite number on the Hanoi delegation.

The State Department in Washington announced earlier that the U.S. delegation told the North Vietnamese "serious talks" were out if Hanoi used the DMZ between North and South Vietnam to launch attacks.

A State Department statement said Hanoi's attention was "forcefully" called to North Vietnamese firing on allied forces "from positions within the DMZ" since Nov. 9. It stopped short of saying those incidents violated a Hanoi-Washington understanding that prompted President Johnson to halt bombing and shelling of the North.

A North Vietnamese delegation official refused to comment.

Earlier in the day the No. 2 man on the delegation of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front—NLF—challenged. The United States—to come alone to the peace talks if Saigon refused to participate.

"If Saigon does not send a delegation then the three parties —The National Liberation Front —NLF—North Vietnam and the United States—must meet without delay to find a solution on the basis of the program, put forward by the NLF," said Duong Dinh Thao, No. 2 man in the Viet Cong delegation.

There was no indication, however, that the United States was ready immediately to carry out Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford's threat Tuesday that the Americans would go it alone if President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam persisted in his boycott of the conference.

U.S. officials emphasized that the United States still expected a four-party peace conference and was working to get Saigon's participation. They said they expected a South Vietnamese delegation eventually, but set no deadline.

Against this background of conflicting U.S.-South Vietnamese peace-making views, Pham Dang Lam, chief of Saigon's observer mission at the talks, conferred for 40 minutes with the U.S. delegation chief, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

Lam said: "Our position has not changed. We are very serious about this."

"Thieu has announced he will boycott four-party talks unless two conditions are met:

—That Saigon head the allied delegation, relegating the United States to a subsidiary role.

—That the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong merge their delegations, thus effecting the self-proclaimed independent status of the front. Hanoi would head the Communist side.

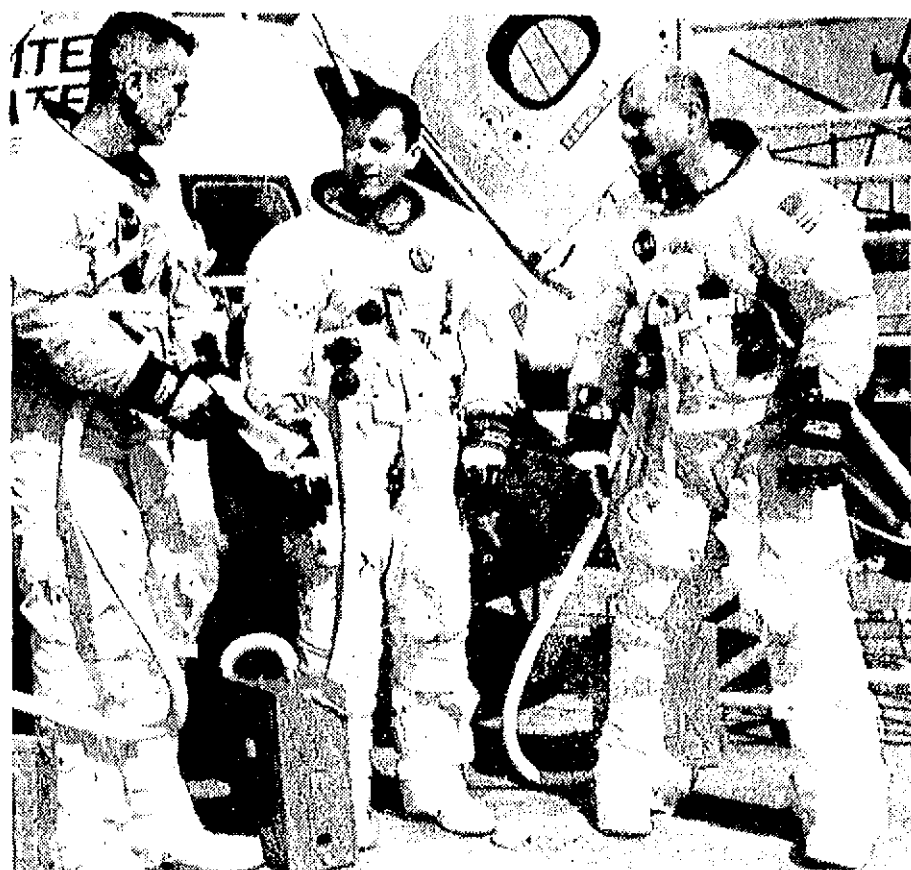

"President Thieu suggested a two-sided meeting," Lam said, "and we are awaiting the reply of the interested parties."

Two interested parties—Hanoi and the NLF—have already rejected Thieu's demands. The third, the United States, is having "top-level" discussions with the South Vietnamese government in Saigon.

Though U.S. sources here would not comment on the substance of these Saigon talks, some allied diplomats were suggesting that South Vietnam would agree to send a delegation if Thieu was given an American pledge that Saigon: —Had the right to speak for South Vietnam.

Industrial park planned in Bangor

BANGOR — The Bangor Chamber of Commerce officially announces it will establish a 60-acre industrial park in the State Belt. First tenant for the park will be a national industry which intends to construct a $3 million industrial plant. For details, please turn to page 3.

Apollo 10 may try for moon landing

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Apollo 10 mission, set for the second quarter of 1969, will go within nine miles of the moon and may make a lunar landing, it was revealed Wednesday.

Apollo 10 thus will be the first U.S. manned spaceflight with a chance to land on the moon, carrying all the necessary hardware for such a mission.

Should the moon landing be polled off, the lunar module will separate from the command module while in moon orbit and then make its touch-down, leaving one man aboard the command module with two aboard the landing craft.

Present plans call for the lunar module to separate from the command module and make a simulated landing at about 50,000 feet from the moon's surface.

But officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have said privately that the mission may be changed to the actual lunar landing.

Prime crew for the Apollo 10 mission, not to be confused with next month's Apollo 8 flight, were named Wednesday. They include Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford, the flight's commander; Navy Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, lunar module pilot, and Navy Cmdr. John W. Young, the command module pilot.

Stafford, Young and Cernan served as the back-up crew on the highly-successful Apollo 7 spaceflight last month.

Stafford, 38, and Cernan, 34, have flown into space together before. They flew the two-man Gemini 9 flight in June, 1966 which lasted three days and included a space walk.

Stafford was also aboard the Gemini 6 flight, commanded by Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra, Jr., which rendezvoused with the already-orbiting Gemini 7 spacecraft in December 1965.

Young, 38, was pilot on Gemini 3, the three-orbit flight which opened the manned phase of the Gemini program in March, 1965. In July, 1966, Young was commander of the Gemini 10 flight which docked in space with an Atlas Agena rocket and used that rocket to push out to a record 475-mile altitude.

Rumors spread of Berlin pinch

BONN, Germany (AP) — Rumors of possible new Communist designs on West Berlin gained momentum Wednesday night after Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger called in the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France.

The chief government spokesman, Guenther Diehl, told a reporter he had heard nothing of such a dramatic development. But the Berlin question may have been discussed with the three Western ambassadors at the Chancellery. Diehl said. Kiesinger later went to Brussels for NATO meetings where subjects of discussion include what to do in the event of another Soviet-led move into an East European country.

Janitor back as legislator in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — When he held a part-time janitorial job in the State Capitol, Joe Lang Kershaw used to stand on the speakers' podium and pretend he was addressing the Florida House of Representatives.

That was more than 30 years ago when he was a college student. The House chambers were empty but for a few other Negro workers. "We were just joking," he recalled Wednesday.

Now Kershaw, a 57-year-old junior high school civics teacher from Miami, has been sworn in as the first black legislator in Florida since Reconstruction.

"I want to be a member of the team," said the new Democratic representative. "I've got my vote and that voting machine can't tell if I'm black or white."

Being the lone Negro in a 119-member House won't be a hindrance in Kershaw's view: "I think politics is the art of compromise. I won't be able to get all I want, but I'll get some of it."

He said he used to be militant about providing opportunity for black people, but then decided to work within the system.

H. R. Haldeman

Staff due for Nixon shakeup

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon made it clear Wednesday he plans a major shakeup of the traditional White House staff system. And a top aide indicated the president-elect intends to be a more "activist" president than Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nixon announced through a spokesman the appointment of a second assistant to the president — H. R. "Bob" Haldeman, 42, a Los Angeles advertising executive, who will handle general administrative matters and Nixon's daily schedule.

Haldeman, a chief of staff for Nixon during the campaign, told newsmen there'll be only three or four jobs comparable to his, all of them "generalists" involved in general planning rather than details.

"We don't want specific people locked into specific boxes," Haldeman told a briefing session at the Hotel Pierre, where the Nixon camp is working out the details of the transition of power Jan. 20.

There won't be a press secretary or appointments secretary as such in the Nixon administration, he said. There was speculation, for example, that Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's communications chief during the campaign, would become an assistant to the president, with Ron Ziegler, the traveling press secretary in the campaign, serving as a special assistant doing the detail work with the press.

Beneath the three or four assistants to the president, Haldeman said, there will be several special assistants assigned to specific areas of responsibility.

The staff will be smaller than in other recent administrations, Haldeman said, and will certainly be one of the youngest.

With this kind of organization, Haldeman indicated in answer to questions, the president-elect will be a more activist president than Eisenhower, whom he served as vice president.

"I think," he said, "he'll be very much in it from the beginning."

The preliminary planning for the White House staff was done during the campaign, Haldeman said, and the details are still being worked out. The first assistant named, on Tuesday, was Bryce N. Harlow, 52, a White House aide in the Eisenhower Administration.

"We've spent a lot of time on a review of the White House staff," Haldeman said. "We've talked to a number of people who held the posts in past and present administrations and we feel there are a lot of ways we can improve the White House staff structure."

Nixon appeared for the first time since his return Monday to New York from Key Biscayne, Fla., and Washington, when he strolled unannounced 1 1/2 blocks down Fifth Avenue from his apartment to the hotel.

The president-elect smiled and greeted a few persons, then went to the 39th floor, transition headquarters, for more staff meetings.

At noon, Nixon went by motorcade to New York's financial district for lunch with members of his law firm. As he left the hotel, a burglar alarm on a truck parked at the Fifth Avenue entrance went off at length, upsetting Secret Service agents, presumably because it was attracting too much attention.

Governor to proceed with plans

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer said Wednesday he intended to "go ahead with my programs" before the politically divided 1969 Legislature with the hope it will not receive "blindly partisan" treatment.

Speaking at a news conference, the Republican governor said he was encouraged by reports that the new Democratic majority in the state House "wants to cooperate."

Shafer said, "I plan to discuss my program with the leadership of the House and Senate on both sides of the aisle."

Adding that he had no immediate plans to discuss his administration's goals with the state's Democratic powers — Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia and Mayor Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh, he added, "But my door is always open to them."

He also confirmed that he had a meeting scheduled later in the day with Rep. Herbert Finegan, D-Philadelphia, the current House minority leader and top contender for next year's House Speaker post.

He hedged, however, on the importance of the session.

Poll urges Humphrey in cabinet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Sindlinger Survey showed Wednesday that 43 per cent of adult Americans support the suggestion that president-elect Richard M. Nixon appoint Hubert H. Humphrey to his cabinet.

Albert E. Sindlinger, head of the marketing and public opinion research organization located in suburban Norwood, said a weekend nationwide telephone poll showed that 33 per cent opposed placing the Democratic vice president in the new Republican administration, while 22 per cent had no opinion.

A total of 1,500 interviews were made and Sindlinger said they represented a projection of 128 million persons over 18.

Those who wanted to see Humphrey in the next cabinet were divided equally between men and women—and the No. 1 job they preferred was Ambassador to the United Nations.

Policeman ends career with state

HARRISBURG (AP) — A 38-year career in the State Police ended Wednesday for Lt. Col. Paul A. Rittelman, who announced he would "just take it easy for a while."

Rittelman, first officer to hold the new post of field commander, announced his retirement effective Thursday, his 60th birthday.

Rittelman's career included service as assistant superintendent and superintendent of the State Police Academy at Hershey, and as acting commissioner.

He was placed in temporary command of the department after E. Wilson Purdy resigned as commissioner while under fire from a legislative committee investigating alleged wiretapping in the department.

Lackawanna Co. court backed on taxpayers' suit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The State Supreme Court says Lackawanna County court acted properly in dismissing preliminary objections to a taxpayers' suit that challenged teacher pay raises won by strike.

About 800 Scranton public school teachers last December won 1968 pay raises totalling $700.

However, a taxpayers' suit was filed in county court challenging the raises, on grounds they violated the State Public Employees Act. This act bars pay raises for three years for any public employee who strikes.

Cherry Hill Mall fire closes stores

CHERRY HILL, N. J. (AP) — An electrical fire sent thick acrid smoke filtering through the giant Cherry Hill Mall shopping center Wednesday, forcing stores there to close.

Lackawanna judge to retire

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Judge T. Linus Hoban, president judge of the Lackawanna County Court, unexpectedly announced his resignation today while hearing a case. It is effective Jan. 1. Hoban, who is 75, has been on the bench since 1935. He is a Democrat.

Hoban said his reason "is simple" — Blaming it entirely on age.

"Physically I am unable to perform the continuous duties of president judge with satisfaction to myself," he said, "nor in the fashion I believe to be necessary for this important office."

Though its provisions don't bond Hoban, and other sitting judges, he said "a decent respect for the will of the people adds to my determination to retire."

$3 million 'mystery industry' to move to Slate Belt

Col. Hank Emerson given service cross

By BERT WALTER
Pocono Record Reporter
BANGOR — A multi-million dollar national corporation plans to construct a $3 million industrial plant in a new industrial park which the Bangor Chamber of Commerce is establishing, it was revealed Wednesday. The industry was not identified.

The industrial park is being established on a tract of land located between Route 191, old Route 191 and the Creek Road. The Slate Belt Industrial Development Association (SBIDA), which was reactivated Tuesday, will develop the industrial park.

Bangor Mayor William D. Scott, in an official Chamber of Commerce news release, said that "negotiations are well along the way with a firm who contemplates erecting a $3 million, 200,000 square foot plant on 30 acres of land in the park."

Financed purchase
"In fact," Mayor Scott continued, "they have paid for their site, but they are not yet ready to permit their identity."

The industrial site was purchased for the firm by Mayor Scott. He Clark S. and Lucy Ross Estates, a 104.19 acre farm tract, was purchased by Mayor Scott for $44,500 at public auction recently.

Mayor Scott had said portions of the estate would be used for the industrial park. He repeated Wednesday that the phantom industry gave him the money to purchase the land.

It had been anticipated that identity of the industry would be disclosed in about two weeks, but Mayor Scott said discussions with the firm this week indicated the identity would not be released for about three months.

Designing plant
He did add, however, that a well-known architectural firm is currently designing the plant.

KRESGEVILLE — Wayne Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnold of Kresgeville has been named North American Exchange Student for October.

A junior at Pleasant Valley High School, Arnold started as an exchange to Peru in July and is now staying with Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Sanchez in Lima, Peru where he is attending Colegio Abraham Lincoln.

Arnold was selected as the first exchange student from Pleasant Valley during his sophomore year.

John Nye, principal said, Arnold has an active interest in track and other field sports, basketball and football, is a member of the Varsity Club and shows an expressive talent and interest in literature and writing. His plans for college are to continue his major interest in mathematics and engineering.

Arnold is sponsored by the International Fellowship, Inc. of Buffalo, N.Y. in cooperation with his parents and the school administration.

ESSC host to comedy
The production is for college students only.

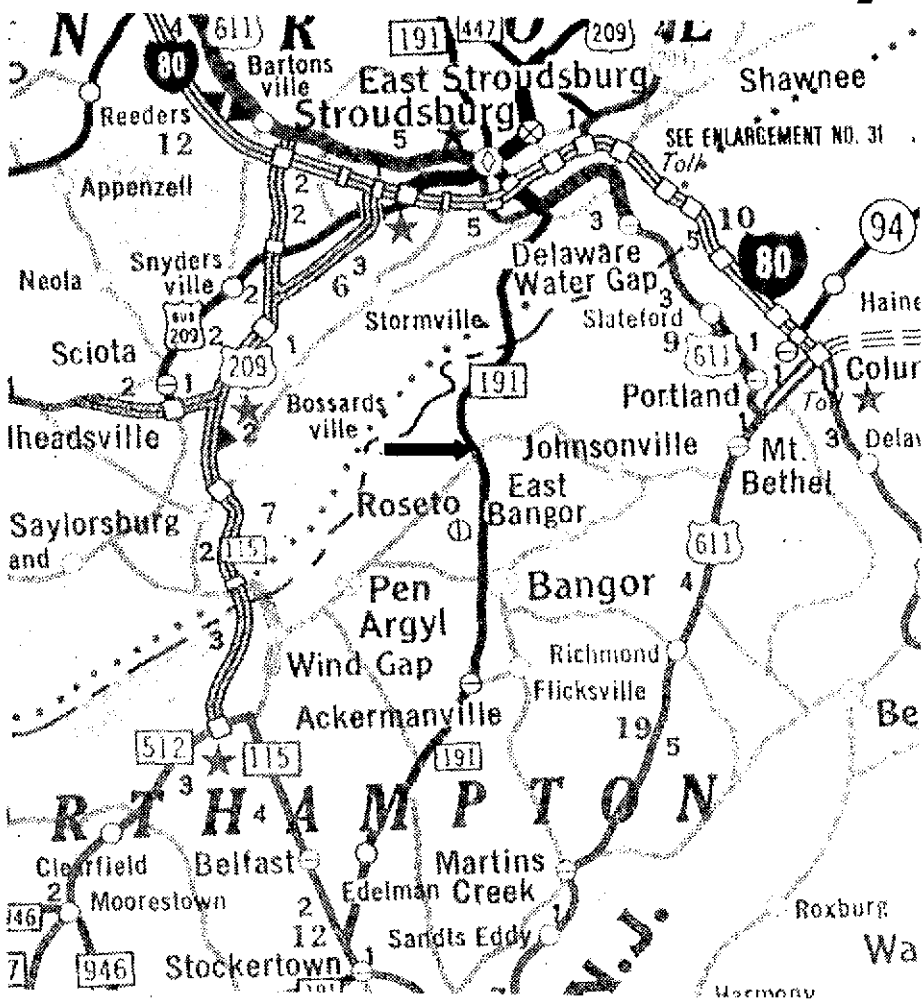

The play will be given for the public at the college on Friday and Saturday, with proceeds to be presented to the Monroe County Heart Assn.

Rev. G. Bewley injured in crash

GREENTOWN — The Rev. George Bewley, a former member of the Hemlock Grove United Methodist Church, Greentown, was involved in an automobile accident in southern New Jersey, and is confined to the Newcomb Hospital, Vineland, N.J.

According to word received here, his injuries include a broken hip and leg, and chest injuries.

Businessmen meet
EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association will meet next Wednesday at 4:45 p.m. in Albino's Restaurant.

New Slate Belt Industrial Park area is pinpointed by arrow and that soil test borings have been made. Mayor Scott, who has wooed the industry for more than one year, said he believes the project will prove to be a good contribution to the further industrial growth of the Slate Belt and will prove to be a good contributor to the tax base of the area.

'Fun thing' art group forms in Newfoundland

NEWFOUNDLAND — A new art group was formed at the Newfoundland Area Public Library and plans include a meeting-workshop every Thursday night at 7 p.m. in the library.

Formed as a "fun thing" and also because "people just won't discipline themselves to paint regularly at home."

Mrs. Robert Miller, Newfoundland, was elected president and Mrs. Ralph Staph, Newfoundland, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The group is open to anyone in the Poconos. Those attending this Thursday should bring charcoal and eraser, cloth, a 16 x 24 newsprint pad, easel and masonite or hardboard the size of the pad.

Attending the organizational meeting at which Charles Flynn presided, were Phoebe Conrad, of McIlhenny, originator of Phoebe's Little Waxworks now on display at Memorytown USA, Mount Pocono; Carol Paulillo, Richard and Betty Huber, Connie Edwards, Eleanor Staph, Kay Miller, Janet Nicholson, Ethel Singer, William Hause, Mark Miller, Dorothy Hoffman and Peggy Baneroff.

State assistance
The Chamber announced that the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce has promised full assistance of its office to aid in procuring firms for locating in the park.

The SBIDA, which will

View from old and new Routes 191 looking toward industrial park officially establish the park, decided to reactivate after the phantom industry decided to locate in the area.

Specifically, the SBIDA, a non-profit industrial development corporation, is designed to attract new industries to the area and to encourage industrial growth of the Slate Belt.

"It is the intent to work closely with the Industrial Development Commission of Northampton County," Scott said.

"The SBIDA will, through its ownership of the North Bangor Industrial Park, have available land for industries that will desire to locate in the area," Scott added.

The SBIDA may also serve as a vehicle through which loan applications may be made with the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority for financing new plants in the Slate Belt.

Action taken
Scott said that the SBIDA, at its reorganization and reactivation meeting took immediate action to apply for funds from the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority.

Scott was elected president in the SBIDA. Other officers elected were: John Turzo, first vice president; Kenneth Ace, second vice president; Lawrence Ward, third vice president; Samuel Brumbaugh, secretary and John Arndts, treasurer.

Attending the reactivation meeting were:

Lawrence Ward, Portland; Frank Comunale, Portland; Frank Comunale, Upper Mt. Bethel; Michael Ruggerio, East Bangor; Michael Goffredo, Roseto; Merlin Tucker, William Scott, James Pritchard and Edmund Turzo, all of Bangor; John Arndts, Washington Township; Clarence Farleigh, John Turzo and Samuel Brumbaugh, all of Pen Argil.

Sentences show concern

Recent sentences handed down by Judge Arlington Williams haven't gone unnoticed. In fact, they have been the subject of much comment.

It has been encouraging to us to see the President Judge of Monroe and Pike County temperate the need for punishment with understanding — dealing out sentences when necessary on one hand and offering encouragement and hope on the other.

Judge Williams handles his position with dignity and understanding. He has studied at length one juvenile case after another, trying to the best of his knowledge and strength to hand down a fair sentence — fair to the community and fair to the party involved.

He has labored hours over several cases before handing out sentences. These sentences came only after lengthy deliberation and a final belief that his decision was not only right, but fair to all parties concerned.

The manner in which Judge Williams sentenced two students from East Stroudsburg State College is not only quite unique, but obviously a move to make the two men pay the penalty for unlawful entry and yet not miss a step toward a complete college education.

Judge Williams sentence the two youths to serve from one month to one year in the Monroe County Jail. However, the sentences will be served only on weekends or during vacation periods. Thus the pair need not miss a single day of their college careers because of a debt they are doomed to pay society.

Although the sentencing of several juveniles pained Judge Williams greatly, it was done with the future of the boys, arrested for vandalism, uppermost in the jurist's mind. They were sent to institutions where Judge Williams believes they will receive education and treatment — a combination that could return them to society as good citizens.

Judge Williams is a keen worker for the improvement of life for the area's young generation. This desire is visible both on and off the bench.

Too late, again

Snow, wind and frosted windows sent many a resident of our community diving back under the covers Tuesday morning, thinking only too hopefully that he was dreaming.

But, actually it was Mother Nature teaching us of slow movement and little planning another lesson — one of which we probably won't heed any longer than next week.

Although the storm didn't set a record for early arrival or for size, it did drive home the fact that once November 1 moves into view, owners of automobiles should move into operation "winter."

Winter tires should be put on and the family vehicle winterized to the fullest. But, the spring and summer-like temperatures that hung over the Poconos this fall lulled us all into false security, making us feel that winter was at least several weeks away.

But, by the dawn's early light of Tuesday's approaching day, it was obvious that we had missed our big opportunity and were now victims of the season's first true snowfall.

Skidding cars, stalled trucks and slow movement on area highways was a tribute to the strength and surprise of the first storm and to man's inability to remember past sneak attacks by the weatherman. It also recalled his refusal to let advance storm notices carry the weight that should be attached to their presence.

There should be a lapse of time before our next snow storm moves into the area — thus supplying us with adequate time to prepare our cars and ourselves for the future.

Let's not blow our big chance this time.

Light side

With Gene Brown

Some days one feels as wise as Aristotle and other days as old as Onassis.

Stanley Appel (Senior) writes to tell me that it is his son Steve who is on the Danbury High School Soccer team and not Stanley, as reported in a recent sports story. We have checked carefully and find out that Stanley can't play soccer worth a darn.

Forrest Palmer, Harold Graves and I drove over to Storrs Tuesday night to hear U-Conn. President Babbidge and four professors conduct a panel on the ferment in the colleges.

During their preliminary remarks we thought that they were remarkably confused as they expounded their philosophy before newspaper people.

But as the evening wore on they took courage and said that it was good that students were taking a keen interest in re-evaluating our ideals as well as what college is supposed to teach them. They're for the students... even against the world.

Louis Untermyer tells me that in his eighties he has become the world's finest non-listener. He said that he can be in a room full of people and won't listen for as long as two hours.

The Scott Report

Magic words

WASHINGTON — The magic words in the new Nixon Administration will be "tax credits".

If the Democratic congressional barrier can be hurdled, these special tax benefits will become the cornerstone upon which the Republican domestic program will be built.

Congressional advisers say President-elect Nixon will make heavy use of tax credits to foster industry participation in the solution of a long list of urban problems and to help the poor.

The controversial new tax incentives, which will be recommended to Congress over the next two years, will make a variety of forms as follows:

Tax credits — to be charged off directly against a corporation's new taxes — will be granted for construction of new plants and homes in ghetto areas.

Earnings from new plants in ghetto areas would be offered exemption from the federal corporate tax for a period of years.

Companies would be allowed tax deductions for launching programs offering job training to the hard-core unemployed.

For individuals, tax deductions would be granted for all or part of the expense of education and job training.

In taking this tax-credit approach, Nixon and his financial advisers believe that they can cut back or level off huge government spending anti-poverty and urban development programs.

For example, Nixon plans to phase out both the Job Corps and Community Action projects under the scandal-ridden Office of Economic Opportunity.

Nixon's argument to Congress will be that the "multiplier" effect of the tax credits would be to insure private spending of several times as much as the government's resulting loss in tax revenues. Also, Nixon will claim, the eventual results would be more, rather than less, revenue.

Whether this "selling approach" will convince Representative Wilbur D. Mills (D. Ark.), chairman of the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee, is conjectural.

Mills, a vigorous opponent of tax credits proposals in the past, will be Nixon's biggest barrier. Over the past year, Mills has made two major speeches denouncing tax credit schemes. He regards these tax incentives as inefficient because some of the tax rewards go for projects industry would build anyway.

In his most recent anti-tax credit pronouncement, Mills charged that these tax concessions amount in effect "to uncontrolled government spending".

Representative John Byrnes (R-Wis.), ranking Republican on the tax-writing Committee and close friend of Nixon, has been given the job of trying to sell the tax credit program to Mills.

Byrnes believes he can win Mills over if Nixon agrees to place strict limitations on the tax advantages. He would give them to companies working to solve the problems of the poor, the ghettos, air and water pollution and education costs.

In exchange for Mills' support for tax credits, Byrnes indicated that Nixon is ready to go along with a general hold-down in overall government spending.

"Nixon regards expenditure controls as the key to getting his new tax credit program," Byrnes recently told another GOP colleague.

Other changes

While Nixon is strongly committed to ending the 10 per cent surtax lapse, the outcome of the Vietnam truce talks in Paris and the war expenditures will probably determine if the surtax lapses on schedule next June 30.

Several of Nixon's advisers want him to keep the tax on until the end of 1969 or until Congress enacts his new tax program.

For the longer range, Nixon has his financial and tax advisers studying the idea of a "value-added tax" which over the years would be used to cut back on individual and corporation income tax rates.

That tax is like a sales tax in its impact but more like an income tax in the way it is collected. Instead of being imposed on the final sale of a product, as most sales taxes are, the value-added tax is collected piecemeal on products as they move through various stages of production.

Preliminary studies prepared for Nixon show that if a "value-added tax" is applied across the board on all goods and services, the tax would yield between five and six billion dollars a year for each point of the rate.

A flat five per cent rate would raise upward to $30 billion a year.

Many problems

WASHINGTON — Everyone has problems, even great institutions. Take the Smithsonian. Its problem is it has too many of some things and not enough of others. And people constantly are trying to foist onto it things it would rather not have.

When the would-be donor is a Very Important Person the situation can be sticky. Say the VIP thinks a bathtub owned by his family for 150 years is a real treasure. When he offers it to the Smithsonian (actually, just to get the ugly article out of his home), he expects the curators to fall on their knees and kiss his fingers in gratitude.

Often, to save embarrassment all around, the Smithsonian just takes the unwanted item and relegates it to "storage," where it will never again see daylight. This, children, is how the Smithsonian has come to be called "the nation's attic."

We move along now to the New York City Hall of Science, which has quite a different problem. Although it had two million visitors last year, not enough people, businesses or organizations are donating scientific items for display. (Or donating money to buy such things.)

Sad situation

The Hall of Science built for the late and lamented New York World's Fair, cost $8 million. Another $2 million is needed to complete some of the additional buildings and untold millions are needed to fill them with technological goodies. The idea of this vast complex standing empty out there in Flushing Meadow might be funny, if it were not so sad.

"The problem seems to be that when philanthropists think of making donations they think of art galleries, opera houses, symphonies, etc.," said a Hall of Science spokesman. "Another problem is that there are so many science museums these days, and New York was so late attaining one, all the good things have been picked over."

New York's Hall of Science was thrilled to take a Smithsonian leaving, a space suit worn by astronaut Gordon Cooper. In keeping with that and in the spirit of fun, I should like to suggest other scientific equipment which might be available, cheap.

Since the Smithsonian already has Charles Lindbergh's plane, the New York Hall of Science might try to get Lindbergh's long Johns. And while other, richer museums have snatched up all the available, used space capsules, New York might be able to make an interesting little display with some jars filled with sand taken from Cape Kennedy.

Allen - Goldsmith Report

Domestic bliss?

John A. Goldsmith

WASHINGTON — The new Congress, though controlled by the Democrats, appears well suited to work with Republican President Richard M. Nixon in a spirit of friendly togetherness on such domestic problems as law-and-order.

In the foreign field the new president may have more problems with Congress and its committees. However, as we noted previously with respect to defense policies, opposition to Nixon's foreign policies may well amount mostly to talk.

Generally speaking, the new Congress, a bit more Republican as a result of Tuesday's voting, but still controlled by Democrats, shapes up as a little bit more conservative too. That should suit Nixon's purpose very well indeed.

A Congress slightly more conservative than the last one should, for example, take kindly to Nixon's promise of a diffusion of powers to the states. It should warmly entertain Nixon's programs to help industry create 15 million new jobs and help "black capitalism" fight despair in the inner cities.

The new president's promise to appoint "strict constructionists" of the Constitution to the Supreme Court can only be welcomed by a Senate which will be quite similar to the one which blocked President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice.

House and Senate committees should give a friendly reception to Nixon's promised proposals for a new national council for law enforcement, for new narcotics curbs and for a new national academy to train state and local law officers. Many lawmakers will be glad if Nixon, as he promised, devotes personal attention to the war on crime.

Certainly Nixon's oft-repeated promise to appoint a new attorney general will be applauded by the congressional establishment. Attorney General Ramsey Clark has come under heavy congressional fire for failure to crack down on the fomenters of anti-war and anti-draft disorders.

Liberal-conservative

The liberal-conservative complexion of a Congress is hard to measure in an objective way. Those liberal and conservative groups which try to rate Congress and its members do so on the basis of their own subjective interests.

The Senate, because its members are insulated from purely local concerns, often appears to be more liberal than the House, and that liberal reputation is enhanced by the Senate's handling of money matters. House leaders contend that the Senate is the upper house of Congress because it consistently "ups" House spending decrees.

The outgoing Congress, which tried hard to

The Pennsylvania Story

He's number one

HARRISBURG — Few realize that when Richard M. Nixon last week won Pennsylvania's United States Senate seat from incumbent Democrat Joseph S. Clark, the victory was an almost unbelievable playback to 10 years ago to the day!

Last week when the Montgomery County Congressman gained the U.S. senatorial nod (good for six years) he did so while the rest of the Republican statewide ticket was losing its shirt.

Ten years ago when another Pennsylvania Republican Congressman was making his first bid for Pennsylvania's second U.S. Senate seat, the election script was almost identical.

That year — 1958 — Hugh Scott was on the ticket as the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate seat. That same year Arthur T. McGehee was running as the GOP hopeful for the governorship, accompanied by former State Senator John M. Walker, the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. Cambria County's Andrew J. Gleason was the GOP aspirant for the post of Secretary of Internal Affairs.

On Nov. 4 of that year all these Republican statewide candidates went down to a bitter and somewhat ignominious defeat — all that is, except Hugh Scott, who emerged with a plurality over his Democratic opponent (George M. Leader) of 112,765. Only other Republican to win that year was Robert E. Woodside, who edged his Democratic opponent for the State Supreme Court seat by 28,324.

Lone survivor

In last week's scramble Keystone State Republicans once again found themselves clobbered to a man — including Republican presidential aspirant Richard M. Nixon, State Auditor General candidate Warner M. Depuy and State Treasurer hopeful Frank J. Pasquerella — with the exception of U.S. Senate candidate Richard Schweiker.

It is perhaps interesting to note that in both campaigns the GOP senatorial hopefuls were generally classified by most GOP leaders as running at the "bottom of the class" insofar as any expectations of a win were concerned.

Hugh Scott in 1958 disagreed strongly with the campaign being run statewide at the time, and as a result broke away to wind up running cut federal spending, probably ranks as conservative to moderate, near the middle of the road. The new Congress promises to fall into the same category.

Focusing on the Senate (where numbers are smaller and names somewhat better known than in the House), the available evidence suggests that the upper house did not qualify as "Liberal" or "Conservative" when it adjourned in mid-October. The average overall rating for all senators in the eyes of the conservative "Americans for Constitutional Action" was about 39 per cent, while the average according to the liberal Americans for Democratic Action was about 38 per cent.

Each group bases its ratings of individual senators and House members on their voting records using issues of their own choosing.

More of same

Paradoxically, ratings of senators who will not return to the new Congress average out as a bit less liberal than their colleagues, according to ADA, and a bit less conservative, according to ACA. The suggestion is simply that departures will make no great change in overall Senate attitudes.

As might be expected the new arrivals in the Senate also show a broad mix of liberal and conservative views.

For example, three of the new Senate Democrats, California's Alan M. Cranston, Iowa's Harold E. Hughes and Missouri's Thomas F. Eagleton are generally classed as liberals. All are opponents of the Vietnam war, and that is one handy criterion in these unhappy times.

Three Republican arrivals, Arizona's returning Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, Florida's former Congressman Edward J. Gurney and Kansas' Robert J. Dole are clearly conservatives. Both Dole and Gurney ranked high on the ACA list in that organization's rating of House members.

A couple of the new GOP senators, Pennsylvania's Richard S. Schweiker and Ohio's William B. Saxton defy classification as liberals or conservatives and can probably be described as moderates. In the mold of President-elect Richard M. Nixon himself.

All in all, then, the entire new crop of senators is not expected to make much change in the overall complexion of the Senate.

As noted, however, the new Senate arrivals do include critics of the Vietnam war to compensate for the election-day defeat of several war critics. If President-elect Nixon, who has supported the Johnson administration's war policies, does have foreign policy troubles in Congress they will be rooted in the Senate as President Johnson's have been.

his campaign the way he felt it should be run.

And alas, what happened in 1964, when (former Republican National Chairman) Scott found himself running for his second term? That was a presidential year — and that year Pennsylvania went Democratic down the line on both the presidential tally and the statewide tally.

That is, Pennsylvania went Democratic — with the exception of Republican Senator Scott's bid for another go at Washington!

Now to Schweiker's senatorial campaign which wound up last week with his amazing 250,000-odd plurality, and a vote total that whopped 'em all!

Behind the scenes were the efforts of pipe-puffing Hugh Scott who seemingly pulled all stops in behalf of his Republican colleague and whose staff in Washington headed by capable Administrative Assistant Eugene Cowan was on a night and day schedule on the Schweiker campaign front.

"Mr. Effective"

It was the venerable Senator Scott who first sounded specifically the cry which became a major theme in the closing weeks of the Schweiker campaign, when, during an early October dinner in Schweiker's honor, Senator Scott, the main speaker, labeled Schweiker "Mr. Effective" in Congress and tagged Senator Clark as "Mr. Ineffective" — the message used with (obvious now) success during the last four weeks of the campaign.

Commented Senator-Elect Schweiker to this column on the Scott campaign effort:

"Senator Scott worked tremendously hard above and beyond the call of duty to assure my victory. Perhaps the most significant thing about Hugh Scott's help was that it exceeded by a great amount the aid which I thought to ask him for. I am tremendously grateful for his help."

(Or, this may have been the "driving" reason behind Scott's efforts: as Pennsylvania's "junior" U.S. Senator, his Pennsylvania automobile license plate has read: "U.S. 2" — "senior" Senator Clark being given the "U.S. 1" plate. As a tongue-in-cheek aide pointed out, with a Schweiker win Scott would become the "senior" senator — and therefore entitled to license plate "U.S. 1!")

Tests for the liver

Can any special test be performed to find out if the liver is functioning properly in a person who is a chronic alcoholic?

Alcoholism is only one of the major reasons for disease of the liver. Cirrhosis is a chronic disease in which fibrous tissue replaces the normal, active healthy cells of the liver and interferes with all of its important functions. Besides alcohol, drugs, syphilis and chronic heart ailments may be associated with scarring and changes in the liver. Many tests can determine how well the liver performs in health and disease. These tests are commonly referred to as a liver profile, by which almost everything can be learned about this vital organ that plays such an important role in the chemical balance of the body.

The urine can be studied for the presence of bilirubin.

The study of the stool for bilirubin suggests evidence of the failure of the liver to excrete this substance.

Good guys want good girls

14 AND CURIOUS: (Q.) I'd like to know what guys really think about girls who make out, pet, and other things. I'm 14 and the guys might think I'm queer if I asked them myself. I hear them talk about girls who do these things, and not in a nice way, either. But I also see kids 18 and 19 who do it and are really in love. Can you help me?

A Reader in Kenosha, Wis.

Of the guys who read this will write me their thoughts about it. If the do I'll pass them along to you and others.

At 14 you'd be wise not to give the guys anything to talk about. Doing so could cost you many unhappy days.

I'm sure that when you get to 18 or 19 you'll know more about love and how to handle it.

I'm miserable now because I can't put down my REAL feelings any more. With the lock broken it's just not safe. I've thought about taking the diary to school and locking it in my locker.

—Disturbed in Pryor, Okla.

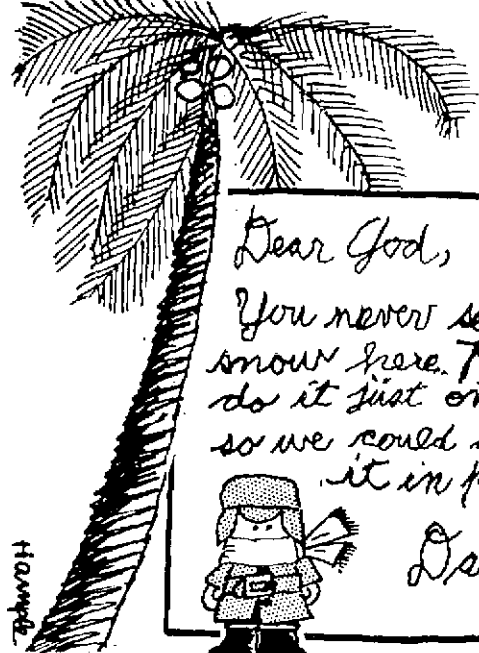

(A.) Don't take the diary to school. School lockers can be broken into, too.

Your answer seems to be to insist on privacy at home. You should be able to keep a diary—unlocked—and be sure no one will swipe it and read it. Your diary and your mail are your personal property and should be respected as such.

Two students win honors

EAST STROUDSBURG — Two area students were initiated into East Stroudsburg State College's Sigma Zeta Tau, an honor society for science and math, during ceremonies held Thursday at the Pen 'N Sword Restaurant.

Caline Christenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Christenson of Canadensis, and Emmanuel Ocheche Aggel of Africa, sponsored by Mrs. Gladys Vost of Cresco, were inducted into the honor society following remarks by guest speaker, Franklin Buser, ESSC botany professor.

Religious census planned

EAST STROUDSBURG — Smithfield and Middle Smithfield townships will be the focus of a religious survey to be conducted, starting Sunday, by the joint efforts of Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Roger Ruhman, Pastor, and by St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Craigs Meadows and St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Minisink Hills, the Rev. Graham T. Ringhart, Pastor.

The planning committee, consisting of several of the laity of the three congregations and the two pastors, have been working toward the execution of the census for some months. The 50-60 teams of census takers will meet at the Craigs Meadows Church on Sunday at 12:15 p.m. for lunch and for brief instructions. At the luncheon meeting each census team will receive a section of a map.

Each team will cover all roads in their territory making contact with all houses. It is the plan to cover thoroughly the territory around Minisink Hills, Craigs Meadows, Marshall's Creek, Echo Lake area, all houses along Rts. 209 and 402 and all tributary roads.

Visitors will not enter any of the homes they contact. They will accomplish their purpose simply by asking a few simple questions at the door.

Northampton bill advances

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House gave final approval Tuesday to a bill that would authorize an additional Common Pleas Court judgeship for Northampton County.

The vote was 199-2. If signed by Gov. Shafer the new judgeship would be filled in the 1969 election with the new judge assuming office in January 1970.

Shafer would be entitled to appoint an interim judge immediately following enactment of the measure.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

The early snow was hard on humans—the clerks waiting for non-existent customers; the club officers with all their carefully laid plans gone with the cancellations; the mothers with the children home from school and their cupboards alarmingly bare.

But it was harder on birds and animals, caught with their acorns and stuff covered. But in the Mountainhome area, the animals know where to go for food—and one place is the home of the Larry Sommers.

Mrs. Sommers has made sort of a wild life sanctuary out of their acre of woodland. Admitting that when she started with birds, she could identify a robin, a blue jay and a cardinal, she has now racked up and identified 53 different species.

From there she branched out to animals and now, even without the snow, has a censure of skunks, raccoons, squirrels, opossum, deer, rabbits and heaven knows what else. They consume, in perfect harmony, an enormous quantity of bread, apples, peanut butter—and marshmallows.

The marshmallows are for the raccoons, if you please. Larry Sommers was a concert violinist and his wife a concert harpist, and now they're great travelers, and were among the many interesting guests collected by Grace Sporer for her open house the other night.

Actually it was more in the nature of a soiree with Al De Renzis playing a number of his original compositions, and people really sitting and listening, not trying to drown him out with conversation.

But back to animal lore: Donk and Juan Kiefer's animal guest was an uninvited one, a muskrat who fell into a cellar hole and couldn't get out even though they provided a ramp. While waiting for somebody with the proper type of trap to free him without hurting him, Jean kept him supplied with bread and apples, and, when the snow started, with an umbrella. Which I consider service.

And my favorite bird authority, Jack Glasson, called to say that the evening grosbeaks are around in great numbers and everybody is complaining about the amount of sunflower seeds they are consuming.

The sunflower seeds aren't likely to be in short supply. Jack told me that in the Red River Valley, farmers had turned 236,000 acres of land formerly used for grain into growing sunflowers, with each acre yielding 900 bushels. Of that 95 per cent is used for bird feeding, so you see the scope to which this business has grown.

Your family will think those buttered green beans are extra good if you top them with crumbled crisply cooked bacon.

Monroe Garden Club board: reports and invitations

STROUDSBURG — Members of the executive board of the Monroe County Garden Club met at the YMCA with Mrs. Jacob Z. Hartman presiding.

Mrs. Elwood Grant, reported on items of interest at the Fall Sponsor's meeting of the Bowman's Hill Wild Flower Preserve, included the announcement of a new character "Johnny Horizon" to join Howdy and Smoky the Bear to promote an intensive anti-litter campaign launched by the Interior Department Bureau of Land Improvement.

A Swedish company has developed a self-decomposing bottle of plastic, paper, metal and foil which decomposes under the action of sunlight and soil acids, she announced.

Garden Club members are invited to a series of Christmas shows: Allentown Garden Club, "The Lovely Legends of Christmas," Nov. 20 and Dec. 1, First National Bank, Seventh and Hamilton Allentown; Bethlehem Garden Club "Holiday Greetings to Bethlehem," City Centre, 10 East Church St., Bethlehem, Saturday and Sunday; Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania, "December Holidays Around the World", Strawbridge and Clothier auditorium, 8th and Market Sts., Philadelphia, Nov. 14, 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. William Dievler reported on the fall board meeting of District II held at Whitehall Mall, Allentown on Nov. 6 when plans for the coming year were formulated and Daniel Wendell of the Plant Pest Control Division of the Department of Agriculture presented an illustrated lecture on the European chafer beetle which has become prevalent in Eastern Pennsylvania.

District chairmen attending from the local club were Mrs. Jacob Z. Hartman, Mrs. Russell E. Hamblin, Mrs. William Dievler and Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman.

The local board meeting was attended by 20 members.

Local volunteers feted by Scouts

SCRANTON — Mrs. Camille Harvey of Stroudsburg, was one of the pioneer Girl Scout leaders of the area to be honored at the Golden Anniversary Banquet held in the Girl Scout House 333 Madison Ave., Scranton.

Mrs. Harvey, who served as a field director with the former Scranton Council and later advanced to executive director of the former Monroe County Girl Scout Council, was a member of a panel of five volunteers who told how they had become interested in the Girl Scout program.

Mrs. Harvey was herself a Girl Scout in the lone troop in East Stroudsburg before a council was formed.

Other members of the panel were Miss Mildred Barnes, Brompton, one of the first organizers of Girl Scouting in Wayne County; Miss Julie Sauko, Scranton, leader of Girl Scout Troop 33 who has continuous membership in the organization since she first registered as a girl member, more than 40 years ago; Mrs. Stanley Williams, executive director of the former Scranton Girl Scout Council for 25 years; and Alty James K. Peck, Scranton, legal advisor to the Girl Scout organization for more than 30 years.

Girl Scout troops in Lackawanna, Monroe, Pike, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming Counties merged in 1961 to form an area-wide council, the present Scranton Pocono Council.

Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of the Monroe Council of Girl Scouts for many years, was also among the pioneers honored.

If you don't like your rutabaga smelling of fish or your prime pork chops tasting of vanilla extract, there's a new product that promises to keep odors of refrigerator-stored foods from fraternizing. It is handy in other ways as well. Store it in a bureau drawer and it staves off silverware tarnish. Good in any area where musty odors are likely to gather, such as bread boxes or medicine cabinets. The ingredient that makes it work is a porous pocket of activated charcoal—the same element used to purify air in submarines and spacecraft.

JACK O'BRIAN'S

NEW YORK. Another television network's after ABC's Dick Cavett, whose morning telecasts are the lightest, freshest, most intelligent chattercasts in the tube. As we reported months ago, the television news is in for some incisive federal scrutiny, not to control it—just to show the almost unanimous slanting by selection of film, tape and analysis (which is editorializing under a defensively reverential cop-out). Amazing how the networks held out for a Humphrey last ditch surge long after the UP and AP gave the last crucial states to Nixon. Greek King Constantine's marriage has its problems: he's obsessed with getting back on his throne while his Queen Anne-Marie is listening to her mother, Denmark's Queen Ingrid, who doesn't want daughter to go back to Greece now. Hope star Anna Quayle has her Blue Cross paid up: she was shot in "Casino Royale," electrocuted in "Arriaviderci, Baby" and winds up in a cage in her latest, "Chitty Bang Bang." Italian couturier Valentino who dresses them both said the new and past Mrs. Onassis (Jackie and Tina) choose amazingly similar styles; so alike he might be dressing the same woman, he marveled. At the "Personality" television taping, Sheila MacRae opined "The title most befitting today's generation is 'The Committed Generation.'" They sure should be. Another cliché dangled at the hippie-set is, "They do have their convictions," and that's as right as trile can be: convictions for shins, marijuana, fighting with cops, resisting arrest, etc. The list of Democrats to run against John Lindsay for New York mayor is short but lengthening every day: Cong. John M. Murphy of Brooklyn-Staten Island; Dean Hester of New York University, etc. The self-rippled wave hoping to splash Kennedy in-law Steve Smith into Gracie Mansion might have been taken faintly seriously a year or two ago, before his charisma expired.

Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni plan another film together (by Cesare Zavattini who wrote "Bicycle Thief"). If the flag outside the Regency Hotel seemed strange, it was from The Republic of the Ivory Coast, in honor of Mrs. Houphouët-Boigny, wife of the president, here on a quiet shopping trip. The very smutty "The Movie Maker" author

Herbert Kastle sternly instructed his teen-aged daughter he'd cut off her allowance for a year if she dared read his book.

Michael Pollard's making a movie in Manhattan whose working title is the filthiest ultimate obscenity certain to be tidied up even in these permissive peewee-film-titled days. While Howard Hughes' aircraft geniuses create and launch communications satellites by which television can be seen 'round the world, they're not too busy to supply the mini-copter for Columbia's "The Wrecking Crew" movie.

Lou Jacobi has a clause in his contract with Murray Schisgal's comedy "A Way of Life" which states no horses may be on stage nor will he be required to ride one for the play's duration: May this stage be safe from horses. The off Bdw. "The People vs. Rancaman" play got mixed raves but not its leading man William Devane, tapped as definite on-Bdw. and Hollywood star material.

Russian Direct Distance Dialing isn't catching on; a call from Moscow to Leningrad necessitates fingering 16 digits and Russkis just can't be bothered.

Max Asmus, owner of the Stage Delicatessen, proves he's a Kosher Ham at heart—he has one big scene in "The Night They Raided Minsky's" and he plays (not else?) a dolly owner. Max, married once, won't wed again: "Why?" Max demands. "You lose a friend and gain two lawyers".

Ann Landers

Enroll in driving school

Dear Ann Landers: A couple of months ago my child cut his hand and I had to wait 30 minutes while my husband closed his shop and came home to drive us to the hospital. (There is no bus service out here and a taxi takes forever.)

After that terrible incident my husband promised to teach me to drive. But he made me so nervous (called me dumb and a fraidy cat) that I gave up trying to learn from him. When I announced I was enrolling in driving school he screamed. "No man is going to teach my wife anything. It would be a reflection on me."

We have two cars and a truck so it isn't that he is afraid I will deprive him of the car. There are so many things I could do if I could drive. I feel like a dummy staying home while a car sits in the garage. I need advice.

STUCK

Dear Stuck: Don't ask His Worship if you can take driving lessons. Tell him. Explain that the next emergency might be a matter of life and death and you aren't taking any chances.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is my brother, although he did not cause it on purpose. Rusty happens to be a very good athlete. He is tops at just about everything you can think of. Rusty has won track medals, tennis cups, and played on the baseball and football teams when he was in high school. This fall he entered college on a football scholarship.

I just started high school. Everyone knows me as Rusty's brother. They think just because my brother was a great athlete I should be one, too. Well, I'm not. I haven't got his build and I don't have the interest in it.

Students vie for office of presidency

EAST STROUDSBURG — Three East Stroudsburg State College students are beginning campaigns for the presidency of ESSC's Student Activity Association. Balloting will take place Nov. 19 and each candidate is working hard for an election victory.

Running for an unprecedented second term in office is Jerry Pardue of Cincinnati, Ohio. His opponents are Frederick Goetz, Reading, Pa., and Stuart Slocum of Thompson, Pa.

The winner of the election will assume in January the most influential student position on campus for a one-year term. Under the Student Activity Assn., all finances for the various organizations of the students, including the athletic, academic affairs, entertainment, publications, social, and recreational councils are budgeted.

Recently coming under the direction of the SAA is the new student center which includes the college cooperative bookstore and snack bar.

Two vehicles in accident

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg Police investigated a two-car accident Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. in the intersection of Broad St. and Lackawanna Avenue. They reported no injuries.

The drivers were Robert E. Haviland, Levittown, and Dwayne L. Reish, Stroudsburg R. D. 1. The two cars collided in the intersection.

I do a lot better with my head than with my muscles. So what's wrong with that? I have always been in the upper five per cent of my class and I want to get a science scholarship, not a football scholarship.

Please print my letter. Maybe people will have a better understanding of my problem and leave me alone—especially the coaches.

BRAIN INSTEAD OF BRAWN

Dear Brain: Here's your letter and I hope people will have a better understanding of your problem and leave you alone. Especially the coaches.

Dear Ann Landers: No doubt your readers are getting sick and tired of reading letters about "my husband's mother." Well, this one is going to be different. It's his father I can't stand.

Grandpa's wife died eight months ago and he moved into this apartment building. He has a key to our front door and uses it whenever he feels like it. Last week at 2 a.m. he was prowling around in the kitchen looking for a can of beer. At six o'clock this morning he was in our bathroom looking for a razor blade.

Gramps has dinner here regularly, which I don't mind. But do mind when he picks up tramps in the bars and tries to pass them off as daughters of old friends. Even our 12-year-old is on to him.

I've told my husband I am fed up but he says he can't ask his dad to stay out of our home. And it's true, as my husband points out, it would be a great inconvenience for us to move as we are close to everything. What do you suggest?

SCREAMING MEEMIES

Dear Meem: You're close to everything, all right—including a nervous breakdown. My advice is to move. It could be the beginning of a new set of rules—like no key for Gramps and no unwelcome "daughters" for dinner.

County agents urge farming betterment

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — County agricultural agents were recently given some new thoughts on old subjects with a need to emphasize the real worth of agriculture in the American economy, the necessity for change in the present farm program and for laws maintaining a balance between agriculture, industry and labor.

Speaking before the 53rd Annual Meeting of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents held recently in Louisville, related agency representatives and officials of the "agricultural team" called for an "up-dating" of the image of agriculture, in all its dynamic phases, which has apparently been projected falsely or only in part on the public mind.

Area agents in attendance were: John Withrow, Monroe County; Samuel Lewis, Donald Bayshore and Donald Fowler from Northampton County; Glenn Ellenberger and Robert Hetrick, Lehigh County and Ray Reitz, Carbon County.

A major address was given by Congressman Jamie L. Whitten, chairman, appropriations sub-committee for agriculture, pointing out the economic influence of the 5.6 per cent of the nation's population on the farm maintaining a business worth $280 billion in assets, spending $50 billion a year for goods and services; paying $4 billion a year in taxes and that all of this is in jeopardy today.

Whitten said all the attention is directed to the problems of the other 94.4 per cent who have laws to support and protect them, citing that Labor has gotten Congress to provide minimum wages, declared "fair by law"; permitting labor also to organize and to strike, enabling it to demand and receive an average of $2.99 per hour.

Although Congress has set out to provide protection for agriculture, Whitten said the "Urban" Congress will not continue to make the appropriations, not when only 47 out of 435 in the House have as much as 20 per cent of their constituents engaged in agriculture.

"Many young people and their elders are ignorant of the primary fact of life, that agriculture production is the basis for the life that we enjoy," Whitten said, "with little understanding of not only the present situation but of the origin and of the basic necessity for laws maintaining a balance between agriculture, industry and labor."

Whitten related chronologically since the 1920 depression the price structure and support programs and the lessons learned.

First, that when farmers can't get a fair return for their products, the land suffers; secondly, some form of effective control over farm production and marketing is necessary; third, establish and maintain a fair relationship between the income the farmer receives and his costs of production in order to maintain a reasonable relationship between what labor and industry receives.

Whitten continued to say that the farmer today must invest initially an average of $73,000 in order to begin farming. Because of the increased costs of farm labor, the farmer adds to his normal risk of weather, market fluctuation the risk of a larger investment in labor-saving equipment; buying this on a market where the government has fixed the minimum industrial wage at $1.60 or the average wage rate of $2.99.

Of the consumer's food dollar, 64 cents is taken by industry and labor, leaving the 36 cents for the farmer. The farmer has seen his net income as a percentage of investment go down from 23.1 per cent in 1947 to six per cent in 1967 and he has seen his debt multiply two and one half times in 10 years from $204 billion in 1957 to $49.9 billion in 1967.

Paper company files legal suit

STROUDSBURG — Royal Paper Products, Inc., Coatesville, Pa., Tuesday filed a suit asking for a judgement of $148.50 against Edmund A. and Anne Louise B. Strickland's Mountain Inn and Cottages, Mount Pocono, and Ed-Anne, Inc., Mount Pocono.

The suit is for payment of a bill which Royal claims has been unpaid since July 31, 1967.

Caught in act

Two gunmen wearing Halloween masks are shown by a security camera leaving the Manchester branch of the Hartford National Bank, Manchester, Conn., with over $99,000 last week. Warrants were issued this week for two Boston men, Roger Brown, 22, and Gustaves Carmichael, 21, in connection with the robbery. A third man was wounded in the escape, Richard Lobbe, 22, of Hartford.

Abel announces steel candidacy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — I. W. Abel announced his candidacy Tuesday for a second term as president of the giant United Steelworkers Union.

A spokesman for the union said that the USW's 3,600 locals had been advised by letter that Abel, Vice President Joseph P. Molony and Secretary-Treasurer Walter J. Burke would be candidates for re-election.

"We would like to keep our union moving forward," the letter said. "We want to keep it united. We want to keep it responsive to the needs and wishes of the membership."

Joseph Germano, director of USW District 31 in the Chicago and Gary, Ind., area, and Director James P. Griffin of District 26, Youngstown, Ohio, head the Abel campaign committee.

They said steelworkers have scored record collective bargaining gains in two rounds of negotiations with major steel producers since Abel took office in 1965.

Abel, former secretary-treasurer of the union, became the first man to unseat an incumbent USW president when he defeated David J. McDonald in 1965.

Questions and answers

Q. Who made the first rocking chair or when did it first appear?

A. Ben Franklin is credited to be the first to put rockers on a chair he owned in 1787, however records show there was an earlier rocking chair. A bill dated Feb. 11 1774 was sent by Wm. Savery, a famous cabinet maker in Philadelphia to a customer of his describing a chair with rockers on it.

Q. I have found a long-handled pot with a perforated top in an attic and want to know what it is or what it was used for?

A. From your description I assume you are referring to a bedwarmer. These were used in homes before stoves or furnaces were utilized for heating. Hot coals were placed in the pan and then the pan was placed between the sheets of the bed to warm it on cold nights.

Woman bar owner boosts barmaids, hits gal drunks

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — The neighborhood tavern was once a second refuge for men. It was a home away from home.

A man could go into a tavern, have a cup or two of good cheer, tell his troubles to a friendly barkeeper and forget the hustle, bustle of earning a living.

Not anymore. Since the suffragettes and Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, however, times have changed. Taverns now have become "coeducational."

Under the 1967 Pennsylvania "barmaid bill" women are allowed to mix and serve drinks in a tavern. Scranton, not unlike most other communities in the Keystone State, seems to have adjusted to this integration.

"Women bartenders are great," said Helen Tabarrini, owner-operator of the Silhouette Lounge.

"Since I switched to women bartenders in 1967 my business has increased by 25 per cent."

"The men customers are more at home with a woman bartender," Miss Tabarrini explained. "So therefore they stay in the tavern longer and they drink more."

"Men will discuss their problems with a woman bartender," said Mrs. Mary DeAngelis, co-owner of the Court Square Bar. "In fact the men are more relaxed with a woman and more willing to talk than when a man is behind the bar."

Lisa Roberts, a 33-year-old native of New York State and a bartender at the Silhouette Lounge since last March, said every man goes to a bar to get away from something, "and usually it's his wife."

"The men like to explain their troubles to me," the 5-foot-5 blonde said, "and they seem to appreciate being able to discuss their problems informally with a woman."

"A woman bartender has an advantage when it comes to stopping fights," Mrs. DeAngelis said. "The men will listen."

State big corn grower

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture predicted Tuesday that Pennsylvania would rank second this year among the nation's major corn producers.

It said the Keystone State would produce 64,470,000 bushels at 70 bushels an acre. Iowa was expected to be the leader in corn production with 93 bushels an acre.

Pennsylvania was also expected to produce 36,000,000 pounds of tobacco at 1,800 pounds per acre; 7,790,000 hundredweight fall crop potatoes at 205 hundredweight per acre, and 7,500,000 bushels of apples.

Angus wins top prize for Suzie

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — "Why Not," a 1,025-lb. Angus owned by Suzie DuPont, West Chester, Pa., won the grand championship of the steer division Tuesday at the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition.

The animal earlier had won the Angus grand championship and junior championship. It was the first time 12-year-old Suzie had competed here and her first major competition as a 4H club member.

Reserve championship honors in the steer division went to Rishel's Edlyn Farm, York, Pa., also with an Angus.

H.A. Rehberg, New Preston, Conn., took three of the top four honors in Angus breeding cattle competition. He had the grand champion and reserve grand champion female and the grand champion bull which he exhibited jointly with Mole Hill Farm, Sharon, Conn. The reserve bull championship went to Denslow E. Eversole, Baltimore, Ohio.

In breeding swine competition, Strawbridge and McCleary, Stewartstown, Pa., showed the champion boar and gilt in Yorkshire classes while Pennsylvania State University had the champion Berkshire gilt.

In sheep breeding classes, Nittany Farms, Boalsburg, Pa., showed the champion Southdown ram.

Women have always tried to enhance their beauty and have sometimes gone to great lengths to accomplish this.

In the days of Louis XIV when women wore extremely high coiffures, the "beauty patch" or "court plaster" patch for cheek or chin was a novelty. The patches were cut in crescents, moons and intricate shapes. A box to hold them became essential.

These boxes called "patch boxes" by the English were exquisitely wrought in silver, gold and enamels. The French called the patches "fies" and the boxes that held them were referred to as "Boites a mouches."

These patches remained high style for almost two centuries and have never really been discarded. The patch box was still being made well into the 19th century.

These patch boxes are still being sought by antique collectors today and if one is lucky enough to find some of these patch boxes he will have learned by now that they have been made in a variety of ways.

They can be found made of Worcester porcelain, early Chelsea and Meissen. There are also Battersea enamels and even primitive Pennsylvania Dutch paper boxes.

Many have been found in antique shops in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and some in New England.

Problem fighters coming home

Problem-plagued F-111 fighter-bombers (similar to one shown in this 1966 photo) which had been expected to deliver key punches against Communist targets in North Vietnam will return to the United States within two weeks, a U.S. Air Force spokesman has revealed. A five-plane detachment of the swing-wing jets, stationed at Lakhli Air Base in Thailand flew only 50 combat missions in Southeast Asia while testing their capability of delivering high speed, low altitude attacks in any weather. Their combat efficiency is still in question.

Editors at four-day convention

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—More than 500 United States and foreign editors and their wives registered Tuesday for the annual Associated Press Managing Editors Convention.

Tuesday's opening session was devoted to acquainting the visitors to Oklahoma, but a short meeting of the APME officers and board of directors did produce a site for the 1972 convention—Kansas City, Mo.

Hartford, Conn., will be the site of the 1969 convention.

The four-day APME convention got off to a leisurely start Tuesday.

Full business sessions begin today.

During the session, delegates also will elect eight national directors. Terms of 16 other directors do not expire this year.

The AP is the world's oldest and largest news gathering service, a worldwide cooperative owned by members.

Supreme Court inters Arkansas' 'monkey law' of 1920s

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas' "monkey law", a lifeless vestige of the fundamentalist fervor of the 1920s, was interred Tuesday by the Supreme Court.

The law, adopted by statewide election in 1928, made it a crime to instruct students in the public schools and universities that man evolved from the apes and other species of life.

Justice Abe Fortas said that by seeking to suppress the teaching of evolution in public schools, the state impermissibly took a stand for a particular religious view and thereby violated the Constitution.

"There is and can be no doubt that the First Amendment does not permit the state to require that teaching and learning must be tailored to the principles or prohibitions of any religious sect or dogma," Fortas wrote for the court.

Fortas said "fundamentalist sectarian conviction was and is the law's reason for existence." He added that the motivation undoubtedly was "to suppress the teaching of a theory which, it was thought, 'denied' the divine creation of man."

This was the court's major action as it ended a two-week recess. Other major decisions included:

1. The court declined to review a New York federal court ruling that peaceful protesters of the Vietnam war may pass out leaflets and otherwise set up shop inside the big Port Authority bus terminal in New York City.

2. Edgar H. Smith Jr., cell block author on New Jersey's death row for 11 years, will have a chance to try to upset his 1957 conviction in the murder of a 15-year-old girl.

3. Convicted atom spy Morton Sobell will have to remain in prison until next August. The time he spent in custody awaiting trial with Julius and Ethel Rosenberg in 1951 cannot be credited to effect his immediate release.

Fortas's opinion cut down the Arkansas law primarily on the finding it violated the First Amendment command that government may not itself foster any particular religion or religious theory.

Significantly, neither he nor the court used the occasion to promote the concept of academic freedom, to advance the rights of teachers to speak freely.

In fact, Fortas wrote that the justices felt no need to explore the implications of the decisions in terms of "the multitude of controversies that beset our campuses today."

The thrust of the decision, in Fortas's words, was this:

"Government in our democracy, state and national, must be neutral in matters of religious theory, doctrine and practice."

"It may not be hostile to any religion or to the advocacy of no-religion; and it may not aid, foster, or promote one religion or religious theory against another," or even against the militant opposite.

"The First Amendment mandates governmental neutrality between religion and nonreligion."

The Arkansas law was inspired by the Tennessee anti-evolution law that was tested at the trial of teacher John Thomas Scopes in 1925 at Dayton, Tenn.

Rationalism clashed with fundamentalism at the carnival trial, with Clarence Darrow defending Scopes and William Jennings Bryan, former presidential candidate and secretary of state, speaking for Tennessee.

The bidding:

 1 ♠ NT Pass 5 ♣ Pass

Opening lead—ace of hearts.
 How would you go about trying to make six clubs, assuming that you and partner had bid this optimistic slam? West begins with the ace and another heart.

Obviously, the contract is cold if the adverse diamonds are divided 3-3; in that case one of dummy's spades could be discarded on your fourth diamond. However, this is not a healthy prospect to rely on since a 3-3 division occurs only 36 per cent of the time, and it would seem advisable to look for some way of supplementing your chances.

One distinct possibility is that the player with the greater diamond length (assuming the suit is not divided 3-3) also has the king of spades among his possessions. In that case, the slam can be made by applying some pressure on him.

Since there are no other possibilities to pursue, you proceed on the basis that the diamonds are either divided 3-3 or that the defender with most of them also has the king of spades. You therefore ruff the nine of hearts, cash the A-K-Q of trumps and ace of spades, and cross to dummy with a trump. When you now cash the king of hearts and discard a spade on it, this becomes the position:

North
 ♠ Q

West
 ♠ K
 ♥ J 9 8 2

South
 ♥ K Q 7 4

East
 Immateral

You then cash the last trump in dummy, discarding your nine of spades, and West has a king-size headache on his hands. Regardless of what he discards you are bound to win the rest of the tricks, and the outcome is that you make the slam as a result of your early preparations for a possible squeeze.

East Stroudsburg High School keeps abreast of times

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg High School, currently in its 73rd year, continues to innovate, experiment and change. This approach has served to forge the programs and philosophy of the school's operation since the first students graduated in June, 1896.

A spokesman said the curricular program of the future will undoubtedly differ from the present as much as the present differs from 1896.

What changes do occur will be carefully thought out and initiated for the benefit of the student, he said, and these changes will continue to occur through the cooperative efforts of students, administrators, teachers and board of education.

East Stroudsburg's is a typical comprehensive program, meaning that the program attempts to accommodate the ever-widening range of pupil abilities and interests.

The seventh grade pupil generally is given a standard program of studies, but variations are available for the exceptional student.

It is in eighth grade that the pupil becomes involved with the program of electives when each of the four foreign language programs commence and are available to the student if he so desires.

In ninth grade the pupil may select, in addition to the foreign language elective, an elective in mathematics. The full impact of the program strikes the pupil when he moves into 10th grade.

It is then that he must select his curriculum and the various elective subjects that fall within the boundaries of his chosen curriculum.

The East Stroudsburg secondary program makes available six programs for the students. They are the college-preparatory, business education, industrial arts, home economics, general and special education.

At graduation five special types of diplomas are awarded depending on choice of a major program. The diplomas are academic, business education, industrial arts, home economics and general.

As for electives, East Stroudsburg High School, and most secondary schools, offer many more electives than are needed to meet minimum requirements.

The Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction mandates that certain subjects must be taught in the public schools. For instance, English, Social Studies, Science, Mathematics, etc. The DPI also states that a school must offer a minimum number of electives.

At present a total of 60 elective subjects are available for the student's choosing. Some are open to all, but most demand pre-requisites.

For example, a student cannot schedule French III without first finishing French II, and a student cannot schedule Academic Chemistry without first finishing some type of college-preparatory mathematics.

A final topic of interest would be the cooperative work-study program that enables pupils to work part time on a job or apprentice program of their choice and also maintain their status with the class by pursuing the required subjects needed for graduation.

At present a total of nineteen senior high pupils, of which fourteen are boys, are in this type of program.

The training includes electronics, x-ray technology, lathe work, lumbering, and office work to cite a few. The program has been successful with pupils, employers and school personnel and plans are being made to expand next school year.

County 5th in state in taxes

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — Monroe Countians, were paying school taxes at the rate of $95 per capita during the past school year—which ranked the county fifth (of the 67 counties) in the area of per capita tax collections, according to an analysis by the State Department of Public Instruction.

In sum, tax collections for public school purposes in the county amounted to $4,287,271 for the year, the department noted.

As a point of comparison, holding the number one rank was Bucks County, with a per capita tax collection of $110, while at the bottom of the county rankings was Schuylkill County with a per capita tax collection rate of $31.10 per person.

Statewide the "average" per capita tax collection was $64.74.

Looking at the Monroe County public school tax picture another way, the county ranked 57th in what might be termed "millage effort in relation to market value"—that is, the millage levied and the tax income produced as related to the market value of the county.

For example, the market value for Monroe County is listed as $247,579,100 for that school year—with tax collections for school purposes (as already noted) standing at $4,287,271 for the county, and with a millage rate of 17.3 on the county market value, this places the county in its 57th position among the 67 counties insofar as "rank by mills" is concerned.

In the county, however, the taxing base is properly assessed which is one-third of the market value. Therefore, the actual average millage would be about three times the state millage figure.

In this connection it is perhaps interesting to note that state appropriations to public schools of the county amounted to $1,916,000 for the year, as compared with $1,330,000 in the preceding year, $1,800,000 during the 1964-65 school year, and $1,725,000 in the previous year.

Masons set degree class this weekend

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Keystone Consistory Club will participate in the Fall Reunion of Keystone Consistory in Scranton this weekend.

Members of the club will confer the ninth and tenth degrees of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry.

Elwood F. Doll, degree master, Wednesday said the degrees will be conferred on the new class Friday night.

Members of the local club who will have a part in the degree work are Robert J. Rockefeller, 33rd degree mason; John H. Parker, Daniel Eppley, Harry N. Arns, Andrew V. Secor, John P. Clark, Clement B. Price, Charles Dyson, Hiram E. Werkheiser, David Swank, Arthur S. Walters, William C. Woodling, Richard S. Kishbaugh.

Also, Donald P. Rowe, Earl C. Hilliard, Mahlon H. Hallett, John W. Helms, Bernard V. Yardley, Ernest E. Lesoine, Thomas R. Joyce, George S. DeWitt, William J. Wallie, Robert E. Van Vliet, Louis M. Staples, Donald E. Craig, and W.G. Jackson, all 32nd degree masons.

Combined school chorus presents third concert

STROUDSBURG — A concert of choral music was presented Wednesday night by 105 high school student voices as their contribution toward the celebration of American Education Week.

It was the third annual Monroe County Chorus, made up of students from the five high schools, East Stroudsburg, Stroudsburg, Pocono Central Catholic, Pleasant Valley and Pocono Mountain, singing out for America in the Stroudsburg High School Auditorium.

Staged in six groups of soprano, alto bass and tenor voices, 16 major choral selections were given, in mixed, male and girl choruses, rendering celebrated music of all ages and origins.

Directors
Mrs. Norma Treible, East Stroudsburg High School, directed mixed and male choruses for "Holiday," by Boland; "Praise to the Lord," a German chorale; "This is a Great Country" from the Broadway musical "Mr. President" by Berlin, and Cowan's "Walzing Matilda." Sister Judith, Pocono Central Catholic, directed girls and mixed choruses for "See the Gypsies," Hungarian folk song; "Ballad of Ballmacarbery" by Cromie; "Roving in the Dew,"

Song star to appear at pageant

MOUNT POCONO — Bobby Rydell, star of stage and screen will host the Miss North America Pageant and crowning of the 1969 queen in the Crystal Room of Mount Airy Lodge Saturday night, Nov. 23.

Contestants from 17 to 27 will contend for the title representing areas of the United States and Canada.

Judging will start Friday night for the Miss Congeniality award and the best State Costume award.

The new queen will compete for the Miss National Hemisphere title.

"Beauty and the Beast" is the pageant theme for all activities with the first fashion show at the Holiday Inn in East Stroudsburg Friday between 6 and 7 p.m., and the second show at Mount Airy from 8 to 9 p.m. Both shows are open to the public.

Competition will consist of swimsuit, evening gown and state costume; judging will be based on charm, poise, personality and beauty.

Judges include James J. Riley, editor of Pocono Record; Charles Masciarella, Mayor of Wildwood, N.J.; Joseph Cardamone, editor of the Wildwood Leader; Miss Truly Haynes, KYW-TV and Miss Diane Christianson, Scranton Times.

Numa Snyder, host choral director, Stroudsburg High School, directed mixed and girls choruses for Wagner's "Ode to Song," from the opera "Die Meistersinger," "Bonnie Doon," a Scotch folk song; "Ain't That Good News?" a Negro spiritual.

"The Impossible Dream" by Leigh from the Broadway musical "Man from LaMancha" was the concluding choral arrangement for the night directed by Snyder.

Junior-Senior play seen good theater

By PETE GRADY
Pocono Record Reporter

SWIFTWATER — Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie," one of the finest plays of this century, will be presented by the Pocono Mountain High School's junior-senior classes with two separate casts on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Under the direction of Michael Ragsdale, an English teacher, area residents will have an opportunity to see truly great theatre this weekend performed by local high school students with what should be first class interpretations of a play intricately woven with the finest and most delicate threads of personal lyricism.

Director Ragsdale hopes to add to the production's lustrous innovations in sound effects and lighting. "I want to focus the lighting on Laura, the crippled daughter who amuses herself with worn out phonograph records and a menagerie of glass," Ragsdale said Wednesday between rehearsals of certain key scenes.

"Laura is shy and has fewer lines than the other characters. When other actors in the play speak, it is usually about Laura," Ragsdale said. "During several scenes the lighting enables the audience to watch the action through the eyes of Laura."

"The music will be a combination of modern jazz, classical and pop to create an unusual musical background for more effectiveness. Laura's music is 'Solitude,' a sonata for harpsichord played by Billy Vaughan.

But the play is the thing. And what a thing of beauty it truly is. Williams' favorite work, it was first produced on Broadway in 1945.

Like Proust, Williams pieces together broken moonlit images of the past from bright but forlorn bits of each player's shattered consciousness.

P. M. tables vo-tech plan; five directors favor building

SWIFTWATER — Pocono Mountain School Board Wednesday reserved action on approval or disapproval of the Articles of Agreement for the proposed Monroe County Vocational-Technical School during its regular monthly meeting in the high school library.

In an informal poll, five board members favored the vo-tech school, while another member voiced opposition. The five favoring the school were Dr. Anthony Bolyan, John Montgomery, Warren Miller, David Keiper and board president James Price.

Opposed to the school but not its program was James Manhart who told the board that there was another county school district who possibly might not go along with approving a county vo-tech school.

"I know three school directors who are in favor of the program but all of them prefer a middle school," Manhart said.

Some comments
Manhart pointed out that he was not "anti Vo-Tech" but as a result of talking to some parents of vo-tech pupils in the Weissport-Lehigh area, the parents who were not happy with the vo-tech school told Manhart the students attending the school don't put as much effort into studies as do high school pupils.

The board discussed whether a conflict would arise between a student's high school education and his vo-tech training.

Some members thought that if a pupil spent a half day at high school and the other half at a vo-tech school the cost of county bus transportation would skyrocket.

Dr. Bolyan stressed that the board should arrive soon on an opinion of approval or disapproval on the articles of agreement.

The vo-tech school, now in its third year of study, would cost $1,510,000 if the county were to build at the present time.

But with a 20-year lease the county would have to pay only a net cost of $663,190, despite interest costs. This would mean the county would pay only 60 per cent of the total cost.

In January, Stroudsburg Area School Board approved the Articles of Agreement. The articles were sent to the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg for revision and approval by the Monroe County School Board recently.

When the time comes for the four county schools to make a decision on the approval or disapproval of the Vo-Tech School, all of the county schools have to approve. If only one district disapproves the school cannot be built in the county.

In a discussion of the Middle School for the Pocono Mountain District, superintendent Dr. William Nye told the board that copies of the long-range school development plan recently completed by Chaffee and Associates, Bethlehem, have been forwarded to the DPI for review and acceptance.

Dr. Nye said that he would arrange a meeting with some architects in December to present plans for a middle school to the board.

Most of county dug out, some trouble spots left

STROUDSBURG — Thousands of Monroe Countians ventured outdoors Wednesday morning with a sigh of relief at the sight of no additional accumulation of snow atop the already 12 inches which fell throughout Tuesday.

The 12 inches of snow, however, was crusted by the frigid temperatures which covered the Poconos in the early morning Wednesday.

While the majority of the sidewalk and driveway snow shoveling was taken care of late Tuesday, homeowners were troubled by ice-capped walks and driveways.

All major and secondary roads were open Wednesday, but high velocity winds caused some trouble in the more mountainous areas.

The Pennsylvania Highway Department reported that most trouble was caused in the Jonas area of Monroe County. Crews were still in that area late Wednesday night.

While on the whole roads were clear, the highwaymen said there was only slight scattered drifting in some parts.

The high winds still seemed to make driving hazardous in the open portions of the road. Occasionally the wind whipped off snow on tree limbs near highways and splattered it on car windows.

The only other driving difficulty was the "slush" aftermath of Tuesday's storm.

Many of the roads, although cleared of snow, were still wet and cars following other vehicles were forced to turn on their windshield wipers.

27 enroll in YMCA swim class

STROUDSBURG — The swimming program offered at the Stroudsburg Young Men's Christian Association is a complete graduate program in aquatic skills held every Saturday morning in the Y pool. Peirce Bailey, executive director, said he outlined the swim skill program.

Graduates of the Minnow class are: Joseph Lisicky, Peter and Mary Ryckman, Susan Buckingham, David Sigmund, Ronald Watson, Tommy Ravert, and Kimberly Redding. Currently enrolled are Kenneth Transue, Sandra Newman, Kimberly Bird, Eileen and John Maloney.

The Fish class requires 10 skills ranging from vertical sculling and treading water to swimming 100 yards.

Dorren Derr, Ann and Patty Ann Matay, Karen Newman, Donna and Kathy Maloney, Karen Dankis, Candy Brodhead and Bobby Goolbaugh have completed this requirement.

The bill on Route 611 just east of Mt. Pocono, which was a major trouble spot Tuesday, was clear of all snow. The new road surfacing on the hill that had been placed there several weeks ago, also made travel less difficult.

The Mount Pocono area still showed the most remnants of the heavy snowfall. Most driveways were still covered and streets were lined on either side with large mounds of snow which had been removed from the streets.

While the expected additional snow did not arrive in force Wednesday, the forecast for today predicts some snow flurries, more wind and continuing cold temperatures. The temperatures are expected to remain at a high in the 40s and lows in the 20s.

Cars collide in Eastburg

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg Police Wednesday at 8 p.m. investigated a two-car collision in which the drivers complained of injuries.

The drivers told police they would contact their family doctors.

The drivers were Elaine J. Sourwine, Porter's Lake, Dingmans Ferry, and Phyllis DeVuoone of South Hampton, Pa.

Football only part of busy day for ESSC's smashing fullback

By BOB GROFF
Pocono Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — Not everyone goes to college with the idea in mind to live it up at fraternity parties, or avoiding the draft, or living off their parents' money for an extra four years, or just plain taking it easy and getting by with a minimum amount of sweat and work.

Take the case of a young man named John Pitzer, 22, who is a senior physical education major at East Stroudsburg State College.

He is a quiet, unassuming fellow whom one immediately likes upon first meeting.

He is also a husband, a father and a guy who holds down a job to help support his family.

But most important of all, as far as the ESSC Warrior football team is concerned, Pitzer is the hard-nosed number one fullback who leads the team in number of carries and in yards gained on the ground.

In eight games this year, Pitzer has carried the ball 108 times, gaining 455 yards, losing only 28, for an average of just under four yards per carry. That is nothing to laugh at, considering in one of the games he ran in only one series of plays because of a leg injury.

Workhorse statistics

To look a little harder at his workhorse image, statistics show that in the eight games that the Warriors have played, the team total for rushing plays is 342.

All that means is that Pitzer carries the ball slightly more than one out of every three running plays. That would be a pretty good indication that opposing defensive units do a lot of "keying" on John. It also means that he ends up being hit a good number of times during the course of a 60 minute game.

The number two man in rushing total is sophomore halfback Ralph Gish, who has carried 50 times in eight games for a total of 344 net yards gained.

Someone who has worked very closely with Pitzer during the last three years had some very typical comments about the bruising fullback.

Warrior head coach Charlie Reese said of Pitzer the man,

Warrior fullback John Pitzer watches as his wife, Joanne, packs a suitcase for their daughter, Kim, and son, Sean, for their children's trip to York, Pa., for a visit with their grandparents. Joanne will be taking a trip to California, Pa., to watch her husband play against the Vulcans on Saturday for the State College Conference Championship.

(Staff Photo by Arnold)

"John is a hard working young man and is extremely well liked. He is well liked and respected by all of his teammates. He is quiet and unassuming."

Money player

Of Pitzer, the football player, Reese said, "He gets the job done. If there ever was a money ball player, John is it. He gets the yardage when it is needed most."

Reese added, "The Millersville, Bloomsburg and Kutztown coaching staffs said that he is the best fullback in the league and this includes Bert Nye of West Chester. "Pretty fair credentials since Nye is the conference rushing and scoring leader in statistics."

Pitzer is a product of Red Lion High School, York County, where he played basketball, baseball and, of course, football. His skills as fullback were developed in high school, despite his 140 pounds. John is now a 200-pound ball carrier.

After graduating from Red Lion, Pitzer went to Rutgers University on a football scholarship. However, to ESSC's good fortune, John found Rutgers not to his liking and left after only one year. That is when he decided to attend ESSC.

Pitzer lives with his wife, Joanne and two children, Sean and Kim, in a small home on Appenzeller Ave., Stroudsburg. Joanne, whom he met while at Red Lion, and John have been married for three and one-half years. Sean is two and one-half years old, and is just like his father, quiet and somewhat shy. Kim is a year old bundle of squeals and bounce.

Joanne, like her husband, is also a senior at ESSC. She plans to graduate in May of next year with a major in secondary English. John will graduate in January.

Looking forward

Joanne seems to be looking forward to John's graduation for more than one reason, among which as she put it, "Now he will have an opportunity to babysit and be with the children while I student teach."

It isn't likely that John will mind such an arrangement. With his schedule during the daytime and evenings, it will probably come as a welcome change to be with his children.

Right now, John is student teaching at the Pocono Mountain Elementary School in Tannersville. When he is finished with his teaching chores, he races down from Tannersville to attend football practice.

After football practice, Joanne meets him with the car and she brings him his dinner. The dinner is eaten in the car on the way to his job as a clerk at Schreck's Market, where he works until 9 p.m.

When his work day is done, he returns home to find time to study.

On some nights, according to John, he is up until 2 a.m. working on lesson plans. And he and his wife both agree that he very seldom gets more than six hours of sleep a night.

On occasion, Pitzer even works on some Saturday mornings at the market before a game. That's what happened before the West Chester game and all he did was score two touchdowns in the most important win of this year's campaign to date.

Yes, John Pitzer is quite a young man. He is well liked by everyone. Everyone except members of opposing teams. And on Saturday, California players will probably find Pitzer one of the most disagreeable people they have ever come in contact with, much to their dismay.

Only 500 tickets for ESSC fans

EAST STROUDSBURG — Only 500 tickets for the state college championship game between East Stroudsburg State College and California State College will be allocated for ESSC fans.

Jerry Pardue, president of the ESSC Student Senate, said Wednesday that the tickets have not been received yet, but will go on sale in the student center when they are received.

Pardue said he expects to receive 200 reserve tickets and 300 general admission tickets.

The game Saturday will be played in 3,000-seat California Community High School field.

Pardue said that during a meeting Tuesday, the student senate which sponsors athletics at ESSC, has agreed to hire two buses to take 21 extra football players and managers.

"Everyone who worked hard to make this team number one is going to be taken to California," Pardue said.

During a previous senate meeting, the request made by Bob Malchorn, a football co-captain, had been tabled.

Pardue also said that eight cheerleaders and a band of 51 students will also make the trip at the expense of the senate.

The senate will also hire buses to take students to see the game. It will cost students $14 for the trip, an overnight stay in a motel in Somerset and a game ticket.

Pardue said the senate voted down his request that students be allowed to pay four dollars for their ticket packages before the game; five dollars after the Thanksgiving vacation, and five dollars after the Christmas vacation.

Pardue said he is afraid that not many students will have the money to make the trip.

The student buses will leave Friday at 5 p.m., stay in Somerset Friday night and return to East Stroudsburg right after the game.

The football team and cheerleaders will be quartered in different motels in California.

The Stroudsburg office of the Northeastern Pennsylvania American Automobile Assn. gave the following directions as the best route to California.

Take Rt. 209 south to Rt. 115 near Wind Gap, then to Rt. 512 and to Rt. 22 west near Allentown. Take Rt. 22 (also Interstate Rt. 78) to Interstate Rt. 83 just before reaching Harrisburg.

Take Interstate 83 to the Pennsylvania Turnpike, go west on the turnpike to the New Stanton exit. Take Rt. 70 west, cross the Monongahela and take first exit to Rt. 88 and go south to California.

The trip is approximately 298 miles and takes at least six hours, depending on weather conditions. The AAA pointed out that cars are not allowed to travel on the turnpike without either snow tires or chains if snowy conditions exist.

Ted's Tidbits

By TED WISMER
Sports Editor

In Wednesday's column we took a close look at the East Stroudsburg State defensive unit. Today, we'll run down the offensive unit which has set a new school scoring mark with 351 points.

Whereas the defensive unit is composed mainly of seniors, the offensive unit has only four senior starters, three in the line and one in the backfield.

The main cog in the attack is junior quarterback Billy Dukett, who is also the total offensive leader in the Pennsylvania State College Conference.

The 6-2 thrower is only 45 yards shy of the mile mark this year in total offense with 1,715 yards (1,594 in the air and 121 on the ground). He has thrown 12 touchdown passes and completed four passes for two-point conversions. Dukett has hit on 121 of 223 attempts and had only six intercepted.

His replacement is another junior Gary Childs, who has hit on 15 of 30 passes for 302 yards and eight touchdowns. His favorite receiver has been sophomore Joe Ahouse, who has caught five of his passes for six points.

As a pair the two have averaged 237 yards per game and have thrown 20 touchdown passes. Between them they have hit on 136 of 255 and had only eight picked off.

Several fans have questioned the Warriors ability to run with the ball but a quick look at the eight-game totals show the passing and rushing yardage to be almost even.

The Warriors have averaged 219.9 yards per game on the ground. They have rushed 342 times for a net yardage of 1,759 or an average of 5.1 per carry.

As expected the leading rusher is senior John Pitzer with 427 yards on 108 carries for an average of four yards per carry. Sophomore halfback Ralph Gish is the second-leading rusher with 344 yards on 50 attempts for an average of 6.9 every time he got the call.

In breaking the school record of 288 points the Warriors lowest output of the season was 21 in the big win over West Chester while the high was 70 last Saturday against Bloomsburg. ESSC averaged 43.8 points per game.

Pitzer, who may be the smallest fullback in the PSCC, also leads the team in scoring with 50 points on eight touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Place kicker Danny Staats follows Pitzer with 41 points on 32 of 44 placements and three of five field goals, the longest being 34 yards. Gish is third with 38 points on six touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

In the pass receiving department senior Ed Csencsits leads in total catches with 39 and in yards gained with 537. Junior Bill Horvath trails with 30 catches for 357 yards and four touchdowns.

As a team the Warriors have scored 50 touchdowns, made 32 of 44 PATs, five for five in the two-point conversion category and three of six field goals.

But the Warriors also have several outstanding replacements in the backfield and pass catching department. Among the backs are junior fullback John Tironi, who started a couple of games when Pitzer was ailing; Bob Dinan, a defensive regular; Augie Grant and Jim Waite. The latter can play any of the four backfield spots, is an outstanding receiver and also kicks off.

The Warriors are also fortunate to have a pair of excellent backup ends in senior Chuck Bierlein and Ahouse. Both have good hands and good speed.

But the unsung heroes as always are the offensive linemen, anchored by senior center Nevin Posey, the most improved lineman on the team. Juniors Howard Sten and Tom Kizis and sophomore Joe Kelly have divided the duties at guard while senior Henry Kearns and junior Merv Witmer give ESSC two of the top offensive tackles in the conference.

Battrick ousts Ashe from British tourney

LONDON (UPI) — Arthur Ashe, the U.S. Open tennis champion from Richmond, Va., Wednesday left the court complaining about "possible injuries" after being trounced by young Gerald Battrick of Wales, 6-1, 6-2, in the first round of the British Indoor championships.

Ashe, who clinched a berth for the U.S. in the Davis Cup finals by winning both his singles matches against India last weekend, was top seeded in the tournament. His usually sizzling serve, however, was missing Wednesday and Battrick needed only 65 minutes to dispose of the Army lieutenant.

The possible injury to Ashe followed that of Clark Graebner of New York, another member of the Davis Cup team, who suffered a pulled back muscle Tuesday night.

In women's play, Australia's Margaret Court beat Christine Jones of England.

St. Louis downs Rangers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jacques Plante, the third St. Louis goaltender of the game, shut out the Rangers over the final 55 minutes Wednesday night to give the Blues a 3-1 National Hockey League victory over New York.

Ron Schock scored the decisive goal on a power play at 14:46 of the second period after Bill McCreary tied the score of St. Louis in the opening period.

Vic Hadfield collected the only Ranger goal with a 65-foot bullet that dipped past Glenn Hall a minute and 16 seconds after the game started. Forty-five seconds later, Hall was dismissed for the night with a 10-minute and game misconduct for making what he termed "some rather rash statements" to referee Vern Riffe.

Rookie Robbie Irons made his NHL debut in place of Hall, but he was hit on the ankle by a puck during his warmup and a few minutes later was relieved by Plante.

Trojans, Beavers tilt may decide Rose trip

By FRED MCMANE

UPI Sports Writer

Southern California's John McKay is an old Trojan who has learned from history about Greek coaches bearing gifts, and he isn't going to be taken with the same trick twice.

Last Year, McKay listened with an attentive ear as coach Dee Andros of Oregon State gave a nice build up to the then undefeated Southern Cal football team during a weekly football luncheon. Then, on the ensuing Saturday, Oregon State proceeded to whip the Trojans 3-0 and hand them their only loss of the season.

This Saturday, the two teams go at it again with more at stake than Southern California's undefeated record, and this time McKay is making sure his players are in better shape mentally.

This year, McKay prefers to listen to UCLA coach Tommy Prothro, whose team was beaten by the Beavers last Saturday. Prothro issued a warning to McKay this week to beware of Oregon State.

"Oregon State is good on defense, and outstanding on offense," Prothro said. "Southern Cal will be in for a real football game Saturday."

Saturday's game between Oregon State and Southern California may be the decisive one in determining which team will represent the Pacific Eight in the Rose Bowl. Both teams are 4-0 in the conference with two conference games remaining, and since both teams figure to win their other league game, this is the big one.

With offense the key to each team's success, the game figures to be a high-scoring one. Southern Cal relies heavily on the running of O.J. Simpson, but quarterback Steve Sogge proved last week that he too is an offensive threat. Oregon State depends largely on the rushing of fullback Bill "Earthquake" Enyart and the option-pass running of quarterback Steve Prothro.

Southern California, which will be enjoying a home field advantage, has been listed as six-point choice.

Two other major conference battles are in store Saturday. Fifth-ranked Georgia goes against ninth-ranked Auburn in a fight for first place in the Southeastern Conference and Southern Methodist meets Arkansas in a struggle for the Southwest Conference.

Survey conducted of area schools

Stroudsburg soccer began with petition of 50 names

By JIM RILEY
Pocono Record Editor

STROUDSBURG — Andy Silock, football coach at Stroudsburg High School, resigned his coaching position two weeks ago, blaming the presence of soccer in the athletic picture as the reason for his departure.

Silock revealed that it is his opinion that there isn't room for both soccer and football in the athletic setup at the W. Main St. School.

Samuel O. Wells, assistant superintendent of Stroudsburg Schools, the man who brought soccer into being at the school, feels differently. Wells, former athletic director and former assistant football and basketball coach at Stroudsburg High, explained the presence of soccer in the current athletic program.

Wells said that Karl Diekl, a former soccer All-American at East Stroudsburg State College, had made repeated requests for a soccer program at the school shortly after joining the Stroudsburg faculty. However, it wasn't until Wells, then the high school principal, received a petition carrying names of 50 boys, all then students at the school, requesting a soccer program, that the request was taken seriously. None of this group played on the football team.

Wells then made a survey of area schools, using Wilson Borough and Hellertown as the strict guidelines for comparison.

due to their similar size and the fact that both have football and soccer teams.

At the time of comparison, three years ago, Wilson Borough had 1,338 students in its junior-senior high school, Hellertown, 1,294, and Stroudsburg, 1,597.

Other schools, with enrollment that featured both sports contacted during the survey were Easton, 1,829 in the top three grades; Bethlehem Liberty, 1,845 in the top three grades and Freedom, 1,423, in the same grades. Allentown Dieruff had 1,721 in the top three grades, William Allen, 2,457, 10th, 11th and 12th, and Emmaus, 2,485, in grades seven through 12. In each case Wells was told that the two sports were comparable and caused no unrest.

Southern Lehigh, with 1,346 students in the junior-senior high school at the time, and Palisades, with 301 pupils in the top six grades, only feature soccer on their autumn sports calendar.

After studying the survey further, Wells recommended to the school board that soccer be tried on a club basis for a minimum of two years, but limited to boys in the sophomore, junior and senior classes. It was Wells' feeling that boys should be given the opportunity to play junior high and freshman football and at the end of their freshman year the right to select football or soccer, depending on their wishes. The recommendation was placed before the school board and accepted by a unanimous vote.

Part of league
Dickl requested that Stroudsburg be allowed to enter the Central Penn Soccer League this past season. Wells could find no reasons for rejecting the request and permission was granted by the administration. However, the team still operated as a club.

The school board later approved the move. Wells revealed that in two seasons the football team has lost only two players to the soccer team. "Several boys who quit football and then sat out at least one year have since joined the soccer team. However, we don't feel that the football team has lost these boys to soccer," Wells explained.

The assistant superintendent of schools went on to point out that there were 84 boys out for football this year. This total includes nine seniors, 23 juniors, 14 sophomores and 38 freshmen. The soccer turnout consisted of 32 players, 19 seniors, seven juniors and six sophomores.

Stroudsburg High has approximately 500 boys in its enrollment. With 116 taking part in football and soccer, there are 384 boys who don't take part in a fall sport.

The school board has taken the stand that soccer is important as it affords an additional physical outlet for boys who do not play football.

Silock revealed that he decided to resign immediately after the Delaware Valley and Stroudsburg soccer clash which was played under the lights on Saturday, Oct. 26.

The resignation was dated Nov. 1 and said that it was immediate. However, Silock then agreed to finish out the present campaign.

Dr. John P. Lim, chairman of the athletic committee, said Wednesday that the school board hasn't received any official notification of the resignation. However, he did say that the board would probably discuss the situation at its meeting next Wednesday.

Top-ranked San Diego now whipping big boys

NEW YORK (UPI)—San Diego State, not content with supremacy over small college football, now is laying it on the big boys.

The top-ranked Aztecs, playing the second of three major college opponents scheduled this season, exploded for 55 points in the second half Saturday to annihilate Southern Mississippi, one of the nation's leading defensive teams, 68-7.

Making the score even more incredible is the fact that Southern Mississippi, which went into the game with a 3-4 mark, had lost only 17-14 to Alabama and 21-13 to Mississippi, both Southeastern Conference powers.

The highest previous single game scoring spree against the Southerners was 27 points, by Memphis State.

San Diego State's stunning victory kept the Aztecs well atop the small college ratings Tuesday as they received 28 first place votes and 330 points from the 35-member United Press International board of coaches.

North Dakota State, which concluded its season with a 9-0 mark, took second easily with 303 points. Tampa moved into third place, taking the spot vacated by Chattanooga, which slipped slightly to fifth after losing to Mississippi. New Mexico Highlands, which also finished its season unbeaten in nine games, took fourth.

Eastern Kentucky and Texas A&I retained their No. 6 and 7 rankings while Weber State moved up to eighth, Morgan State advanced to ninth and Western Kentucky jumped to 10th.

Adams State headed the second 10 with 20 points, as Willamette, Humboldt State and newcomer North Carolina A&T, with back-to-back upsets of Morgan State and Florida A&M, taking the next three spots, each a point apart.

Indiana (Pa.) State, another team which finished unbeaten in nine games, captured the No. 15 ranking while Troy State, eighth last week, slipped to 16th after losing to the University of Tennessee's Martin Branch.

Gustavus Adolphus was 17th while Eastern Michigan, Central Missouri State and Kings Point tied for 18th and Florida A&M took the final spot.

San Diego State's Dennis Shaw threw seven touchdown passes, four to Tom Nettles, as the Aztecs ran their record to 8-0. The victory was San Diego State's 33rd in the last 34 games.

North Dakota State finished unbeaten in regular season play for the second consecutive season by routing Mankato State 63-8. Tampa, now 7-1, spotted East Carolina, a major college member of the Southern Conference, a 21-0 lead before roaring back with four TDs in the second half for a 28-21 triumph.

New Mexico Highlands, seeking another bid to the NAIA playoffs, finished 9-0 with a 48-10 rout of Southern Colorado while Chattanooga fell 33-15 to major college Mississippi.

Eastern Kentucky moved closer to the Ohio Valley Conference title by whipping Tennessee Tech 38-14 and Texas A&I held on to beat Howard Payne 20-14.

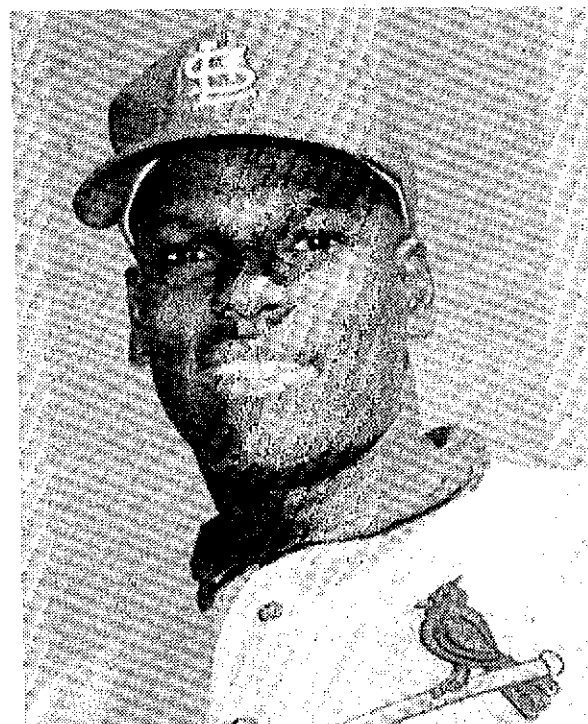

Weber State edged Montana 20-16 while Morgan State, its winning streak severed last week, bounced back to beat Hampton Institute 46-14 and Western Kentucky romped past Middle Tennessee 43-2.

Adams State blanketed Colorado Mines 7-0 and Willamette remained unbeaten with a 6-0 victory over Linfield. Humboldt State ripped Chico State 57-7 and North Carolina A&T, which snapped Morgan State's unbeaten string at 32 games last week, dropped Florida A&M from the list of unbeaten with a 9-6 upset.

Indiana (Pa.) State beat C.W. Post 35-13 to wind up 9-0 while Kings Point lost its first game in nine decisions this year, 7-0 to Lafayette.

Five coaches from each of the seven geographical areas of the nation comprise the UPI ratings board. Each week they select the 10 top small colleges, with points awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis on votes from first through 10th.

Gibson garners MVP vote; matches McLain's honors

Bob Gibson

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Gibson continued the pitchers' assault on baseball honors this year Wednesday when the St. Louis Cardinals' powerful right-hander added the National League's Most Valuable Player Award to his Cy Young Award.

Gibson, who compiled a 1.12 earned run average—best in league history—while winning 22 games and losing only nine, was listed first on 14 of the 20 ballots cast by select members of the Baseball Writers Association of America (BBWAA). Pete Rose of Cincinnati, baseball's leading hitter last season with a .335 batting average, received the remaining six first place votes and earned 205 points, 37 less than Gibson's high of 242.

"I'm really surprised," said Gibson, currently on a goodwill tour with the Cardinals in Japan. "It's very seldom that a pitcher has a chance to win this award. I really didn't expect it and I feel pretty good."

The selection of Gibson as the league's Most Valuable Player and best pitcher equalled the feat of Denny McLain of Detroit, Gibson's World Series pitching rival, who won both awards in the American League. The dual selection marked the first time pitchers have been chosen for both MVP awards since Brooklyn's Dazzy Vance and Walter Johnson of Washington took the honors in 1924.

Gibson, the Cardinals' second straight MVP winner and third in the last five years, had one of his finest seasons in pitching St. Louis to its second consecutive pennant.

The hard throwing right-hander from Omaha, Neb., started 34 games in 1968, completing 28 and pitching 13 shutouts. The 32-year-old fast-baller, who disclosed after the season that he suffers from an arthritic condition in his pitching arm similar to the one which ended Sandy Koufax' career two years ago, was almost untouchable for a period.

He recorded five consecutive shutouts, stringing together 47 scoreless innings and over one stretch of 45 innings. Gibson allowed only two runs, one on a wild pitch.

He thus became the first pitcher to win the MVP award since Los Angeles' Koufax in 1963 and joins Brooklyn's Don Newcombe (1955), Koufax and McLain as the only players to win both the Most Valuable Player and Cy Young Awards in the same season.

The year's awards could now be completely swept by pitchers since right-hander Stan Balmain of the New York Yankees is a front runner for American League rookie honors and the New York Mets' Jerry Koosman is expected to battle Johnny Bench, Cincinnati's catcher, for NL freshman honors.

First baseman Willie McCovey and right-hander Juan Mariachel of San Francisco were the only players besides Gibson and Rose to be named on all 20 ballots cast by two BBWAA members from each National League city.

Terps worry Paterno; State favored by 20

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—There are many intangibles, Joe Paterno will tell you, in preparing a 7-0 team for a 2-6 opponent.

"As I've said before," the Penn State coach noted, "so many times this year the unranked and seemingly inept teams have come on and upset the top runners."

State, third ranked in the UPI polls, is regarded a top favorite to win its eighth game Saturday at the University of Maryland. "I think the way the game is played today, as wide open as it is, with people who can pass and catch, anything can happen on one play," Paterno said.

"All of a sudden somebody gets momentum. Then you can't get any and you get licked. So I think anybody can beat anybody."

Maryland, Paterno said, is no exception. "Perhaps the Terps don't have a great record," he said. "But they have a young team. Our team realizes it has a tough game and the players must play well to win."

Paterno expressed some concern about the weather.

"The combination of Monday off and the surprise snowfall Tuesday has thrown our practice sessions out of sequence," he said. "On Tuesday we generally go at a rougher pace and practice a little longer because we must make adjustments. Then on Wednesday and Thursdays we repeat everything to get a fine polish."

The Nittany Lions will have a light workout Friday before departing for College Park, Md.

'S' Club plans dinner meeting

STROUDSBURG — The Varsity S Club will hold a dinner meeting next Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Motel Inn Towne. The regular business meeting will follow.

Anyone interested in attending is asked to contact any of the club's officers or board of directors by Monday night.

Educator says courses on drugs fail

DETROIT (AP) — Many school courses dealing with dangerous drugs like marijuana and LSD fail their purpose, an educator said Tuesday.

A common practice is to bring in some authority to "give 'em the facts," or "scare 'em to death," said Marvin R. Levy of Washington, D.C.

But the effect "is of short duration and all too often encourages those still undecided to flout 'the establishment,'" he told the American Public Health Association.

Physicians have the facts about dangerous drugs, but a relatively high percentage of doctors themselves use drugs like morphine, he added.

"Another approach equally short-sighted" is basing the entire school program on drug abuse upon the legal issue.

"Too many high school students are caught up in the issues of personal freedom, civil rights, individual liberty, and react adversely to legalistic dictums," Levy said.

Forty-three states require teaching about narcotics and other dangerous drugs, and most such laws have been in effect for at least 20 years, he said. But most do not specify how much and what kind of information should be taught, or by whom.

"It would be an obvious mistake to demonstrate how to tie a hangman's noose to a depressed individual, yet we do not think it unwise to show frustrated youngsters (assuming there are one or two in our schools) a film depicting the preparation and administration of a 'fix.'"

The emphasis should be not on the drugs themselves but rather on "the individual who has decided to use drugs," he said.

Levy is director of the Drug Abuse Education Project of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

If education is to help prevent drug abuse, it is essential to have fully-informed teachers and administrators, supported in their programs by school boards and the communities, he said. And states should supply funds and not simply "pious mouthings."

One hurt in accident

STROUDSBURG — State Police from Stroudsburg investigated a two-car accident on a rural road in Pocono Township Tuesday at 8:10 a.m. One person was slightly injured. Joy A. Post, 24, of Henryville, R.D. 1, driver of one car, went to her family physician for treatment of bruises. According to police Miss Post was traveling west when she rounded a curve in the highway, and lost control of her car. The car slid across the highway and collided with a car driven by Shirley M. Gussett, 26, of Stroudsburg R.D. 2. Total damage is estimated by police as $350.

Agnew had AF plane near Cuba

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew made his vacation trip to Puerto Rico in a U.S. Air Force plane because security officials feared a hijacking to Cuba if he took a commercial flight, a member of his party disclosed Tuesday.

Thirteen American commercial airliners have been forcibly diverted to Havana this year—the most recent on Nov. 4.

So Agnew, his family and attendants were assigned a twin-engine Air Force Convair 580 for the flight of nearly 2,000 miles from Baltimore via Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., to San Juan on Monday.

Flying in stormy weather, the 24-seat craft averaged only 280 miles an hour. Agnew said lightning hit the plane twice, but it apparently was undamaged and no one was hurt. He seemed unconcerned.

The first bolt hit when the plane was about an hour off the Florida coast.

"It lit up the plane," a passenger said. "and Agnew went to talk with the pilot to see what had happened."

Thunderstorms pursued the plane during most of its flight and the second apparently struck about an hour later.

The party included Agnew's wife, Judy, their four children and a granddaughter, Michelle Anne. Also along were several friends and Secret Service men.

Injunction against film thrown out

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The State Supreme Court dismissed Tuesday an injunction against the showing in Pittsburgh of the film, "Theresa and Isabelle," calling it "shockingly defective."

The phrase was in the majority opinion written by Justice Henry X. O'Brien, who also wrote "the hearing ... was reminiscent of the Star Chamber proceedings of yore."

He said the theatre owners Millard B. and S. Ralph Green were not notified of the hearing and there was no court record.

O'Brien, noting the film has been shown in Pennsylvania without legal interference, said, "I don't see what's so different about Allegheny County."

The unanimous decision did not rule on an obscenity charge, but O'Brien noted that the original ban amounted to unlawful censorship without adequate provision for a prompt determination of the obscenity issue.

The film, a frank treatment of lesbianism, was confiscated July 19 by Robert W. Duggan, Allegheny County district attorney.

Clergyman aided with phone tab

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Friends of a Protestant clergyman are passing the hat to help him pay off the remainder of a $973 telephone bill resulting from the presidential campaign of Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

The bill already is down to $45 because of payments by The Rev. Roger Grussing and donations he has received.

Grussing said Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. has been "gentle but firm."

The telephone bill was compiled after Rev. Mr. Grussing, a Presbyterian minister, ordered the telephones during the last few weeks of McCarthy's campaign to win the Democratic nomination.

Rev. Mr. Grussing, who was Bismarck coordinator for the drive, said he ordered the telephones only after receiving assurances from the state McCarthy director and members of McCarthy's staff that adequate campaign funds would be available to pay the bill.

But after McCarthy lost his bid, it was found campaign funds were insufficient and Rev. Mr. Grussing was left with the bill.

Two extradited to Pennsylvania

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men were extradited Tuesday to stand trial in Pennsylvania on robbery charges.

U.S. Commissioner Edward P. Drew ordered Robert Lee Carr, 22, and Michael Lynn Clark, 20, to be taken to Scranton, Pa.

Authorities said Carr and Clark broke out of jail in Sunbury, Pa., last Sept. 16.

They were arrested Nov. 4 in South Gate, a Los Angeles suburb. Carr had been working in a service station under the name Robert Daniels, officials said.

Mental patients' 'art' offer clues to illness

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Art, in scrawny pictures and bold, wild colors, now is being used to help doctors probe the minds of the sick.

At Philadelphia's famed Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, the illness of some mental patients can be partly diagnosed by the drawings they make.

This is a pioneering field: arttherapy. And it appears to be fast becoming a more exciting step toward a cure of mental illness than the traditional occupational therapy. Many hospitals are now following Hahnemann's lead, and switching.

"In art therapy, no one can be a failure," says Myra Levick, redheaded mother of three who is director of Hahnemann's art therapy training program.

"It's an excellent key to opening up a person's mind. Especially, in cases where the patient is non-verbal and just is not communicating at all."

While the majority of art therapy is with paint, water or oil, some patients—in the hospital's encouragement of free expression—use pencil or other art crafts such as tiles.

Mrs. Levick, who has a bachelor's degree in fine arts and a masters' in educational psychology, says art offers patients creative activity that subs for their neurotic symptoms.

Patients ventilate their feelings on the paper or canvas, and the drawing seems to help relax tensions—almost acting like a combination tranquilizer and mirror.

"A patient's art work can demonstrate improvement, regression or a cycle of both," says Mrs. Levick. "This depends on the nature of the illness, and the length of time in treatment."

Psychiatrists don't judge the art esthetically, she asserts, "but rather look at the way the patient organizes his work and uses space and color in relation to reality."

To illustrate: one patient on admission to the hospital sat down and drew a vase with flowers. It was rigidly composed, the flowers massed together and the picture covering only a small part of the page. Psychiatrists said it displayed anxiety, defensiveness and a poor self-image. Three weeks later the same patient drew a much larger flowerpot, free flowing and colorful, showing he had loosened up quite a bit.

Mrs. Levick gives these other hints on what drawings mean: —boundary lines continuing off the page usually indicate the patient has little idea where he, as an individual, ends and the world begins. —tiny figures, drawn into a small part of the space, show the patient has a poor self-image, a low opinion of himself. —confused forms show a confused identity. —large, staring eyes in a distorted face are the sign of the paranoid. —a crowded picture with objects overshadowing each other purport a lack of sense of purpose and direction. Mrs. Levick says Hahnemann is the only hospital in the United States now offering a graduate program in art therapy—and six were graduated last June. There are nine in the present class.

we care

what kind of coffeemaker do you use?

It really doesn't matter. Any coffeemaker can give you a good cup of coffee, providing you use a fine fresh coffee that is ground exactly right for your coffeemaker.

We've always known that the correct grind is important to coffee flavor. That's why, years ago, we developed Custom-Grinding. That's why we don't have just one or two grinds but seven different grinds... to fit any coffeemaker, including electric percolators, of course, (Ask for medium-fine grind for electric).

Custom-Grinding means a little extra work for us and a little extra time for you. (It takes 15 seconds to grind a pound).

But what a difference in flavor those few seconds make.

You know, there's only one reason we insist on selling custom-ground bean coffees... WE CARE.

Decorations whitened

Street decorations for the Christmas holidays in Holyoke, Mass., were sprinkled with snow as New England's third storm deposited six inches on the city.

Family of seven dies in Catskill Mts. fire

BLOOMINGBURG, N.Y. (AP) — An entire family of seven died Tuesday in a fire that destroyed their small wooden bungalow isolated in the foothills of the Catskill Mountains.

State police said the bodies of Donald Terwilliger, 30, and his wife Margaret were found huddled in the rear of the house with the bodies of their five children, Peter, 10; Catherine, 8; Donald, 6; Angelina, 5; and Otis, 4. Mrs. Terwilliger was pregnant, police said.

"Only a few boards are left," said a witness who saw the ruins. The front of the home was already engulfed in flames when Bloomingburg firemen arrived and they could not enter Chief Harry Cramer said.

The rescue attempt was hampered by a driving snow storm and the desolate location of the home at nearby Camp Hemlock, about 70 miles north of New York City.

The bungalow was one of a number usually rented for the summer, but the Terwilligers were living there all year round. Firemen said the blaze was apparently started shortly before 4 a.m. by a combination of a faulty heater and a malfunctioning fireplace.

Consumer falloff not felt

Stocks move smartly

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market moved ahead smartly Wednesday amid speculation the Vietnam peace talks may resume, with or without Saigon's participation.

U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman conferred with Saigon's chief advisor in Paris in an emergency session following an appeal by the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, that Washington proceed with the negotiations despite Saigon's refusal to join the conference.

The meeting viewed with optimism by investors, touched off rumors that South Vietnam may end its boycott of the Paris meetings.

The second consecutive monthly decline in retail sales and news that consumer spending was tapering off appeared to have negligible impact on stocks.

The UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, showed a gain of 0.67 per cent on 1,600 issues crossing the tape. Advances led declines by a margin of 895 to 517. There were 158 new highs and 9 new lows.

The Dow Jones average of 30 blue chip industrials was up 3.23 to 1067.43.

The New York Stock Exchange index mirrored a rise of 30 cents in the average common share price. Volume totaled 15,600,000 shares against 17,250,000 shares on Tuesday.

Of the 15 most actively traded issues, there were 11 winners, three losers and one unchanged.

Chrysler headed the list, losing 1 1/2 to 66 1/2 on 575,300 volume. Softness reflected reports that the record sales pace in the industry was tapering off.

In second spot was American Motors, gaining 1/4 to 16 1/4 on 441,200 shares. The other two major car makers — General Motors and Ford — dropped 1 1/2 and 3/4, respectively.

Occidental Petroleum rounded out the three most active issues, picking up 1/4 to 46 1/4 on 169,000 shares. As to the remainder of the oil group, Atlantic Richfield increased by 1/4, while Sinclair, fourteenth on the active list, added 1/4. Jersey Standard rose 2 and Getty 3/4. Pennzoil fell 2 1/4.

The steels, meanwhile, gave up fractions, partly reflecting the sweeping price reductions on hot rolled sheet. U.S. Steel, Republic and Jones & Laughlin each lost 1/4.

Missouri Pacific and North West Industries picked up 2 1/2 and 1 1/4, respectively, in the rails.

United climbed 2 1/2 in the aircrafts, largely the result of higher third quarter profits.

Eastern, KLM and Northwest were up a point or better in the airlines, while others in the group were mixed.

Everybody's Business

Christmas sales may top records set during 1967

NEW YORK, N.Y. — More than four out of five retailers throughout the United States and Canada expect Christmas sales to top 1967's record, according to a survey conducted through member daily newspapers of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

This survey covers the opinions of 268 retailers in 39 states, 130 cities and three Canadian provinces. Approximately half of the retailers responding to the questionnaire are department store merchants. Fifteen other store types are also represented, including men's and boys' wear, women's wear, furniture, home furnishings, discount, variety, jewelry, drug and shoe.

Eighty-two per cent of the merchants look for a sales gain this Christmas over a year ago. The median sales increase predicted is six per cent. Only three per cent of the respondents anticipate a sales decline, 14 per cent feel business will remain the same as last year and one per cent are undecided.

Retailers also are optimistic regarding profits. Sixty per cent look for a profit increase this Christmas over last year, 23 per cent expect profits to remain the same, nine per cent see a decline and eight per cent are undecided. The median profit increase expected by those retailers who look forward to a gain is four per cent.

Continuing the trend to kicking off Christmas promotions earlier, practically every retailer plans to start his campaign on or prior to Nov. 20, Thanksgiving Day. Thirteen per cent of the respondents began Christmas advertising in October; 12 per cent began November 1; 12 per cent plan to start Friday and 13 per cent say Nov. 28 will be the starting date.

Thirty-one per cent of the merchants indicate they will start their Christmas drives earlier than last year.

Larger advertising budgets are planned by 43 per cent of the participating retailers; the median increase is four per cent. Fifty-three per cent plan to maintain advertising at last year's level, and only four per cent expect to trim their ad budgets.

Newspapers again tops Eleven per cent of the respondents plan to invest their total ad dollars in newspaper advertising during the Christmas season. Twenty-nine per cent plan to invest from 50 per cent to 99 per cent of their ad dollars in newspapers and 24 per cent will invest from 80 per cent to 99 per cent in newspaper advertising.

Men's and women's wear are the leading merchandise categories expected to show the biggest percentage gain this Christmas over a year ago. Merchants are also relying on toys, major and small appliances, color television, and cosmetics to score high sales gains over last year.

Nearly half the retailers surveyed expect Christmas business will be harder to get than last year, while 36 per cent say business will be about the same. The main reasons are competition and the four fewer shopping days between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

New Jersey man hurt in crash

MILFORD — A 41-year-old Phillipsburg, N. J., man was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Port Jervis, N. Y., following a one-car accident Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. on Rt. 203, five miles south of Dingmans Ferry.

According to State Police at Milford, Robert F. Manieri was traveling north on Rt. 209 when his car skidded on the snow covered highway, went down a five foot embankment and came to rest against a tree.

Manieri was taken to the hospital by Milford Fire Department Ambulance where he was admitted and is being treated for a broken leg.

Police said the car is extensively damaged.

Freedom petition withdrawn

EASTON — A 35-year-old Wind Gap R.D. 1 man Tuesday received court permission to withdraw a petition seeking his freedom from an indeterminate sentence at the State Correctional Institute at Dallas.

Merritt Buskirk had been committed for motor vehicle driving offenses and said he is attempting to learn to read and write so he can obtain a license and drive legally.

Chester Reybitz, Buskirk's attorney, said since Buskirk filed his petition he has been granted parole and does not wish to pursue his petition.

VFW unit to present donations

STROUDSBURG — The Ladies Auxiliary of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Stroudsburg, met Monday night in the VFW home and voted to make contributions to four projects.

Donations were made to Home Christmas Fund, Veterans Administration Hospital, Wilkes-Barre; Christmas Canteen Books, and Retreat Veteran's Hospital, Berwick.

Members were reminded to bring Christmas gifts for The Scotland School to the December meeting.

Fire recalls earlier cruise

STROUDSBURG — The Oceanic enroute to Nassau on a cruise was forced to return to port in New York by fire on Tuesday. The news was of particular interest to six local people who had taken the same cruise earlier this month on the same ship with no incidents.

The travelers were Nancy Strasser, Shirley Hay, Madge Riday, Margaret Hunter, Edith Miller and Betty Decker.

'Helpful' public

BRASILIA (AP) — Police in the Brazilian capital complained of being sent on wild jaguar chases by residents who think they've seen Gilberto, a jaguar which escaped from the local zoo.

Blood drive collects 18 pints

STROUDSBURG — Snow and general weather conditions were blamed Tuesday for the American Red Cross Bloodmobile only collecting 18 pints of blood when it visited First Presbyterian Church in Stroudsburg.

Weather conditions forced the visitation to end at 3:30 p.m.

A spokesman for the drive said the next visitation will be at the Ronson plant in Delaware Water Gap sometime in December.

Doctors donating their time Tuesday were Jean Golden and Frank Lovicchio, both of East Stroudsburg.

The drive was sponsored by Pocono Mountains Jaycees.

No meeting this month

MOUNT POCONO — Mount Pocono Airport Authority has cancelled its November meeting and will meet in regular session on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at Pocono Mountain Airport.

Chairman LeRoy Dengler reported that the tree trimming has been progressing during the month except for the recent snow and rain.

Dengler said that the World Council of Churches which is renting airport property is continuing to clear some 25 acres of the approach for runway 23 for parking area.

Your Horoscope

By Francis Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)

Concentrate on personal advancement within the framework of your abilities. Learn more about yourself, your latent talents. Be aware of constantly changing trends; analyze them.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Your planet Venus urges a prudent look at your schedule. Give precedence to matters that require immediate attention. Table such issues as could crowd your program or can safely be ignored.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Tempting bait may be held out to you — which could cause you to lose momentum, and even your way. But your keen, agile mind can snatch the real, valued issues from the welter of confusing offerings.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Rarin' to go? This spirit, adequately controlled, can be the forerunner of substantial gain. Predicate action on current needs, quality, timeliness.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Prominent stumbling blocks to progress will be indecision and missed opportunity. Key yourself to deliberate smartly and quickly so that you may reach proper conclusions. Be deftly aggressive.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Orient yourself to beneficial changing conditions. Take a long, hard, objective look to come to an accurate appraisal. From this you can pattern future movements more successfully.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Your Venus suggests that you remain on the careful side, advises you to be more painstaking. Keep up with obligations but allocate some free time to planning remainder of the week.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — To avoid errors is your theme for the day. Grasp a clear understanding of your incentives, your motivations. There will be no easy, pat formula for success unless you call it WORK.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — The results of your efforts will be determined by what use you make of talents and opportunities. Stretch out; delve into those areas that give promise of delivering more.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — A special way of saying the right thing at the right time will pay. Reward will be earned in direct proportion to endeavors expended. Be cognizant of "tricky" situations and handle as required.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Uranus mildly favorable. Identify your goal early, and your method of procedure. Then, with the way charted, move steadily, concisely, increasing tempo as you progress.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Originality will not agreements may have to be revised, strengthened. Competition should enliven the day nicely. Be responsive to new ideas.

YOU BORN TODAY can prevail when others fail. You have mysterious powers that sum up as personality, persuasiveness and insight. From the outsider's view, you are a sure winner, but you do not always believe this. Bolster faith in yourself and your talents. Be ready to reach out for progress, not fearing what others will think of your efforts. Efficacious methods are natural with you. Avoid mistrust, resisting changes even when your better sense approves. Birthdate of: Charles Lyell, geologist; Prince Charles of England.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 5, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 11-14

TREASURE HUNTING

WITH ELLEN

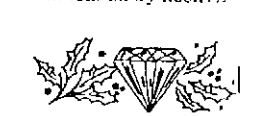

... for the exciting, unique gift - shop here every Thursday with Ellen Leeds...

Phone 421-7349

Americana — Those who love fine woods will find a small factory at 2400 North Fifth Street where solid cherry gifts and accessories and furniture in a variety of woods are made in the tradition of our early forebears. Donald Timney, owner of The Heritage Shop, believes in the almost-vanished principle of fine hand craftsmanship in the finest woods available. When you see the satiny furniture finish and lovely fruitwood color of his hand-rubbed accessories, you will agree that the principle is valid. Wall shelves, spoon racks, spice racks and cheese boards make great gifts. And be sure to see his cradle for holding magazines or records. You can even watch the craftsman at work in his neat factory (a neat factory seems a neat feat all by itself!).

Art Glass, Anyone — If you are looking for American Art Glass treasure, here's a gem of an idea... try Lisa's Antiques, 3 miles north of Stroudsburg on Rte. 191. We saw two rare Royal Flemish cookie jars in pale, translucent colors, made by Mt. Washington Glass Co. With painted designs in high relief outlined in gold enamel, these 19th Century pieces are a real find. There are several signed Tiffany and Mary Gregory pieces, rare Holly Amber, Burmese, cranberry Sandwich, Verre de Soie, Ciro Perdue and many other pieces to delight the collector. Lisa Drake lectures on American Art Glass and if you are uncertain on a fine detail, she will quickly assure you with information from her art book "Blue Buddha" in blue Ciro Perdue (this item is not for sale, provided you can keep your mind on art glass in this over-flowing, fascinating place).

Bangles and Rings — Treasure hunting for diamonds? There's a small shop near Snyder'sville on Business Rte. 208, that's a good place to start. The prices are interesting, the people friendly and it's easy to find. They have diamond rings, watches, bracelets, wedding sets and necklaces. Special orders get very special attention and fast service (24 hours on some items). Interested in lodge rings, signet rings, birthstone, tiger eye or cameo rings? Earrings for pierced ears, rock crystal, wedding bands or wedding band bracelets? Kenny Starner has all these and more. Be sure to see the handsome walnut jewelry chests and cabinets to hold your treasures. Baby cups and sets in silver and stainless steel (handsome as well as practical) and baby jewelry, too! Phone 992-4507, or drive out toward Snyder'sville until you see Kenny's sign.

For Western Fans — If you haven't been out to the Beaver Valley Saddle Shop as yet, we suggest that you hurry on out and do some early Christmas shopping. This brand new, small shop has Western shirts in plaid, checks, solid color and novelty for Mom, Dad and the kids (children's sizes 4 to 14). Other good items: shearing jackets, Lees and Wranglers in denim and stretch (a few with bell bottoms), Western hats, boots, belts, buckskin gloves, some good-looking "rough-out" handbags and a small selection of hand made Western jewelry. Directions: Business Rte. 209 South to Weavers Store, turn left and follow signs 1/2 mile to The Saddle Shop. Alice and Bill

Imported Knits — Husbands, sons and lovers of beautiful clothes, take note! The Christmas stock of Hooper-Bleye coordinates is here at Frances Burrows. See the knit costumes with reversible coat that would make any lady's eyes sparkle. There are 100 percent wool skirts, slacks, sweaters and jackets; mohair sweaters; helena knit tops; and machine washable dacron polyester slacks with coordinating velvet tops (also machine washable). Hooper really means it when they say color coordinated (they use the same dye colors year after year) as those who collect these beautiful coordinates know. Difficult to describe are the divine colors and lovely soft feel of these imported clothes. You'll just have to go to 718 Main Street and see for yourself!

The Musical Gift — Ever consider the disadvantages of buying a musical gift from a non-musical store? Jay Cameron, of Mainline Music, feels that "non-music" is too often the result. If a salesperson doesn't know C major from D flat minor and doesn't know if the instrument plays correctly, or the store is not properly equipped to service the gift, there is bound to be disappointment. Jay's "know-how" of instruments and accessories for beginner or professional and his prompt servicing of those he sells, makes Mainline the logical choice for things musical. This week he's featuring drums; snare-kits for beginners; full size sets, new and used; a "boom-bah" and mini-sized, professional-sounding sets for teeny-boppers! 525 Main Street, Stroudsburg.

Buttons and Bows — Sewing Christmas presents? Check the extensive selection of trims, accessories and fabrics at The Yard Shop, 208 North Eighth Street. You'll find laces in many widths and patterns, folded braid in wool and cotton, wool fringes, frosted and other raffling, trims to match Windjammer fabrics, metallic and sequin trims, velvet ropes, velvet and grosgrain ribbon in many widths and colors, zippers in metal or nylon, Lilly thread, Streamline buttons and buckles, frogs, toggles and other fasteners. Yes, they have 72" felt by the yard in seasonal colors! Any other problems? Florence Marsh will probably have a solution. Phone 421-5209 or stop by.

Thanksgiving Treasure — Goodies galore for your Thanksgiving table! Marzipan from Austria, Macadamia nuts from Hawaii, cookies and candies from England, bacon from Denmark, chesnuts from Holland, France, Switzerland, Arnold have store hours 6 to 10 PM and Saturdays only. Phone: 421-8537. Next Week - Christmas presents for horses!

Germany and Denmark — (all this with no calories of course!) and oodles of other good things from our own USA. Margie and Willie Nebel believe in the old-fashioned idea of personal service. They have been in business for a long time and have a very loyal following. You may have to wait a few moments, but it's well worth it. There are so many fascinating food items that you don't see every day. Holding court at the back of the store behind his meat counter, Willie dispenses philosophy with the lamb chops and readily admits that he is a "nut" about quality. You'll look far to find a better butcher. It's also nice to know that you can have special cuts the way YOU want them. And, where is all this? Nebel's Market at 726 Main Street, Stroudsburg.

Gifts... gifts... gifts — Holiday Gift Center at the corner of 8th and Main, is
